ATTEMPT TO GET $53,000 PAYROLL IN HOLDUP FAILS

Granite City Policemen and Postoffice Inspectors, Concealed Along Route of Transfer of Money From Station to Postoffice, Frustrate Robbers' Plan.

LONE ROBBER AND MAN IN AUTO TAKEN

Vigil Result of Suspicious Action of Two Men for Several Days—Money Shipment One of Two Large Ones Due Today.

Vigilance and quick action of the Granite City police and Postoffice inspectors frustrated this forenoon an attempt to steal a shipment of $53,000 payroll money from the Granite City Union Station to the Granite City Postoffice, and resulted in the capture, after a fusillade, of the lone robber who made the attempt and of another man, believed to be an accomplice, found waiting in an automobile outside the city.

Suspicious actions of two men in the Granite City railroad yards for four or five days caused the authorities to believe that a payroll robbery was planned. Two shipments of money were due today from the Federal Reserve Bank at St. Louis, one of $53,000 this morning and one of $50,000 this afternoon. Arrangements were made to protect both shipments.

Chief of Police Roy Clark, Postoffice Inspectors F. W. Ruter of East St. Louis and C. B. Utley of Decatur, Postmaster William Champion and several policemen were concealed along the route of five and a half blocks from the station to the postoffice.

Lone Robber Captured.

The $53,000 shipment arrived from St. Louis at 9:05 a. m. on a Big Four train and the packages were delivered to Arthur W. Brown, 2209 A. street, the local messenger, and he loaded the packages into his truck and started toward the postoffice.

At Twentieth and B streets, three blocks from the station, a man ran out from the sidewalk and jumped on the running board of the machine and pointed a revolver at La Mott and ordered him to drive north on B street.

The officers rushed from their concealment and closed in on the machine. The robber jumped off and ran north in B street. The officers pursued, firing as they ran. Policeman Meyers, at Twenty-first and A streets, heard the firing and ran to B street, intercepting the robber, who ran into a yard and behind a residence, where he was caught. No weapon was found on him. He is supposed to have thrown it away as he ran. Search is being made for it.

Man in Auto Taken in Custody.

He said he was Patrick Conway, 34 years old, 3050 Whittier street, St. Louis, out on bond on two charges pending in the St. Louis Criminal Courts.

Chief Clark and the Postoffice inspectors, assuming that somebody was waiting for Conway on the Chouteau Slough road, toward which he directed La Mott to drive, commandeered an automobile and drove out the road. About two miles from town they came upon a Ford touring car standing by the side of the road, in which was a former Granite City saloon keeper. They say he was crouched in the machine as though to escape observation. He was arrested and both he and Conway are held at Granite City for Federal authorities.

$53,000 in Shipment.

The money was consigned to the Granite City National Bank for the National Enameling and Stamping Co.'s steel plant. The postoffice inspectors refused to tell how much it was, but at the bank it was stated that there was $53,000 in the shipment.

Conway was arrested July 22, 1921, at Seventh and Chestnut streets, in a Ford which was alleged to have been stolen, and was held in $10,000 bond under the Dyer act. On June 15, 1921, he was one of several arrested in connection with the operation of a fence for stolen goods at Grand and St. Louis avenues and is under $2000 bond in connection with that.

MINERS WHO VOTED AGAINST STRIKE GET CUT IN RENT

Free Gardening Space Also Offered Employees of H. P. Swope During Suspension of Work.

By the Associated Press. CLEAR FIELD, Pa., April 14.—Striking miners employed by H. P. Swope are to pay only one-half the usual rent for company houses during the strike, and are to have free gardening, free of charge, such land as Swope has to offer.

"We will not try to do anything for the present," explained Swope in a notice posted at the mines, "and in the meantime you as well as the companies I represent will have to draw on our savings to live until work is resumed."

"However, I appreciate that you, in the referendum vote recently taken, voted against a strike, proving that the great majority appreciate the good treatment I have always tried to accord you while I cannot afford the present strike, the interests I represent can help you."

Distribution of the land, Swope added, would be as fair as possible.

BOYS PICKING FLOWERS FIND NUDE BODY OF WOMAN

Body Believed to Have Been on Mountain in New York Eight or Nine Months.

HAVERSTRAW, N. Y., April 14.—A party of boys, searching for rare wild flowers in high places in the mountains, today discovered the nude body of a woman on the wooded summit of Cheese Cone Mountain.

Coroner Stahlman said that death probably had been caused by a heavy blow on the left side of the head by a lead pipe or heavy club, eight or nine months ago. The woman was about five feet six inches tall and had brown bobbed hair.

FAIR EASTER WEATHER LIKELY

Washington Bureau Issues General Forecast of Conditions.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The much-criticized girl found a friend today in the Weather Bureau, which indicated that she might go forth on Easter wearing her bright-colored tweed suit and periwinkle hat without fear of rain.

Generally fair weather for Sunday was seen by the bureau for that part of the country east of the Mississippi River and probably for the southwestern states. Moderate temperatures will be experienced through the South.

STORM DAMAGE FOLLOWS DEEP PALL BEFORE RAIN

Darkness Lasting Five Minutes as Intense in County and St. Charles as in City.

TENTH OF INCH RAIN IS NOTED AT BUREAU

Roofs Blown From House and Garage and Lightning Hits Features in List of Damages.

Midnight darkness, beginning about 7:40 a. m. today, and lasting in intense form for 5 minutes, was a prelude to a torrential rain, hail and wind storm, which inflicted property damage in and near St. Louis.

The darkness was caused by thick, low clouds, and not by one of the downtown smoke blankets which occur occasionally on calm days. The gloom was as deep in parts of St. Louis County, and in St. Charles, as it was in St. Louis.

The rainstorm that followed registered one-tenth of an inch precipitation at the Weather Bureau downtown, but was much heavier in other districts. The wind velocity was estimated by the Weather Bureau as about 60 miles an hour.

Rain Follows Pall's Lifting.

The darkness, following a cloudy period, came as many persons were on their way downtown. Automobile drivers turned on their lights and most of them ran slowly through the lightless period. When the sky cleared again into the aspect of an ordinary dark day, the heavy rain began.

Street cars ran as at night, with all lights turned on, and with plentiful use of warning gongs.

Roof blown from the police station, side of the May, Stern & Co. store, Twelfth and Olive streets, was broken by the wind and hail.

At 5607 and 5611 Barmore avenue chimneys were blown down and windows broken.

The wind lifted a frame garage, built to accommodate 20 automobiles, on the grounds of the Algonquin country club, Webster Groves, and deposited the structure on Perry road, blocking traffic. Six machines were left in the rain, where the garage had stood. Men pushed the garage out of the road.

The wind blew from the residence of Miss Ida Phillips, 7165 West Park avenue, Richmond Heights, a story-and-a-half bungalow. The roof fell in a lot, 35 feet east of the house. The structure was moved into the garage and Miss Phillips and her mother and sister went to a neighbor's home.

The west wall of a bungalow under construction at Wile and Yale avenues, Richmond Heights, was blown in.

Lightning struck a house at 8864 Delmar boulevard, and $500 damage resulted.

The sleeping porch, upstairs and downstairs, at the home of Lee McMichael, 3859 Cleveland avenue, were blown down, with $800 damage. A tree fell in the rear yard and struck the garage, pushing the structure 15 inches back on its concrete foundation. Many trees fell in this vicinity, and windows were blown in and shutters down. Trees falling in front of St. Margaret's Catholic Church, Thirty-ninth street and Flad avenue, tore up the sidewalk.

The paper roof of a garage at 4125-27 North Grand avenue was blown loose and the fragments broke through windows of adjacent houses.

A 50-foot section of the stone wall which bounds Principia Academy, at Belt and Minerva avenues, collapsed. It is thought the recent rains had undermined the wall.

Damage in the City.

Other damage reported was: South Side—Houses 3545-49 Botanical avenue, cornices blown down; 5246 Neosho street, roof blown off; loss $2600; 5342 Neosho, roof damaged; $500; 4650 Gravois, windows broken.

Central and West End—Row of houses, 2603-07 North Taylor avenue, roofs damaged; 4060 Finney avenue, furniture store window broken; $130 damage; 4390 Finney, window of soft drink parlor broken; $100; 4353 West Belle place, chimney blown into room through window; $500 damage; 1208 West End avenue, chimney blown down; $125; 4703 Newberry terrace, roof damaged; $125; 2621 Locust street, window Newell Motor Car Co. broken, $300.

At 3951 North Ninth street, a fire wall was wrecked with $1000 damage.

A tree that fell down alongside the right-of-way of the Missouri Pacific.

"LAWLESSNESS" LECTURER ARRESTED ON WEAPON CHARGE

Quick Action Follows When He Exhibits Revolver During Speech on Law Enforcement.

Paul Nitschke, former Alderman of Jerseyville, Ill., and volunteer law enforcer, is having the law enforced against him. He was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Mayor Shepherd charging him with carrying a concealed weapon. He was bound over to the May term of court under a $200 bond.

Law enforcement has not been going to suit Nitschke of late, so he circulated handbills Saturday announcing that he would speak on lawlessness at the courthouse Monday evening and inviting everybody to come out and hear him.

They came and saw Nitschke take of his coat and vest and a revolver and lay them on the table, after which he sat down and told them what he thought of their lawlessness. When he finished he put on his clothes and his ordnance and went home. Jerseyville didn't greatly mind being told of its lawlessness, but it hated to be told of it lawlessly, so the prosecution followed.

GIRL STENOGRAPHER SCOUT FOR GANG OF SAFE-BLOWERS

Police Claim to Have Obtained Story After $75,000 Robbery in New York Office Building.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, April 14.—A story of a gang of safeblowers, working with the aid of a girl stenographer used as a scout, today was obtained by detectives investigating last night's raid on the Royal Insurance Co. Building at 84 William street, in which nearly $75,000 worth of cash and securities were taken from a number of offices.

The police claimed to have obtained the story from George Breckenridge, a watchman, who was found robbing of large sums. According to detectives, Breckenridge confessed being a party to the robberies, although he professed not to know the names of any of the robbers.

The superintendent of the building stated that Breckenridge, a member of the police reserves, had obtained his job as watchman on the strength of a letter of recommendation written on Police Department stationery.

The police asserted that Breckenridge unfolded a plot for systematic robbing of large office buildings in which the girl played an important role.

The girl would obtain employment in one of the offices chosen by the gang, make plans of the building and learn the method of handling the money. Then she would turn her information over to her robber lover, and resign, according to the police, sharing in the loot when the gang did the job.

THREE LADS ARE KILLED WHEN TUNNEL BESIDE CREEK CAVES IN

Digging of Dog Seeking to Reach His Master Beneath Dirt Leads to Recovery of Bodies.

By the Associated Press. TOPEKA, Kan., April 14.—The frantic digging of a small white dog in his efforts to reach his master, who had been buried in a cave-in, led late yesterday to the discovery of the bodies of three schoolboys, who had been killed when a tunnel in the west part of Topeka caved in.

The dog was seen by six tramps who a few hours before had talked with the boys while they were eating their lunch in the cave. After digging out one body they called for help and the other two were recovered. About a ton of dirt had covered the bodies.

The boys killed were Ralph Mackey, Raymond Wiss and Edward Stador. All were 12 years of age, and attended Holy Name parochial school, where an Easter vacation was in effect.

415-FOOT RADIO AERIAL BEING PLANNED AT CHICAGO

Experts Say Company Will Be Able to Cover the Entire Country From This Station.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, April 14.—Plans are being drawn for two 125-foot steel towers which the Commonwealth Edison Co. proposes to erect on its building at Adams and Clark streets to support the aerial wires of the company's wireless sending station, which has been engaged for some time in broadcasting music, news and information.

The Edison building is about 290 feet high, so that the peaks of the towers will be 415 feet above the pavement. It will be possible, according to the radio experts, to cover the entire country from this station.

FURTHER RISE IN RIVER PREDICTED DUE TO RAIN TODAY

Weather Bureau Had Considered Stage of 32.3 as Crest of Flood—Levee Covered at Many Points.

TRACKS ABANDONED FOR THE PRESENT

Water Up to West Curb of Wharf Street in Places; Many Persons View Torrent From Olive Street.

Because of today's heavy rains, the Weather Bureau this afternoon predicted that the Mississippi River would rise slightly, or would remain stationary for a time, instead of falling, as was predicted earlier in the day. The stage of the river at 7 a. m. was 32.3 feet, and the Weather Bureau regarded this, at that time, as the crest of the flood, and predicted a fall of .5 of a foot by tomorrow morning.

This morning's stage was a rise of .075 foot over that of yesterday morning. The river passed flood stage, 30 feet, Sunday.

The Illinois River has begun falling above Peoria, and the flood crest along that stream will be reached at various points in the next three days.

St. Louisans who have gone in the last few days to see the flood at the levee have seen a widened body of turbulent, muddy water, which has been more or less harmless here, but which serves as a reminder of the destructive power of water, and they have seen a little of the levee submerged. The levee has witnessed unusual life, as well-dressed visitors have mingled with the roughest and the laborers in the busy warehouses. Each noon wharf street has been crowded.

Levee Covered at Many Points.

The appearance today was about what it has been for several days. It so happened that good views of the flood could be had at the foot of Olive street and of Washington avenue, two streets used frequently to reach the levee. The levee at Washington avenue has been covered with water to the west curb of Wharf street, which is merely the upper edge of the levee. It has been partly across the street at Olive. It has risen barely high enough to surround the municipal harbor office at the foot of Market street, access to which was temporarily abandoned from the steps. Another inundation, to the curb occurred at Spruce street. North of Washington the widest inundations have been at Franklin avenue and at Carr street.

Vehicles Splash Through Water.

The water spread across Wharf street at these points because of depressions of the pavement. Automobiles and trucks have continued to use Wharf street, splashing through the water. The tracks of the Terminal and Wabash railroads on the south to a point some distance beyond Carr street on the north, because they were partially or wholly covered by water.

The firerooms of the plant of the Union Electric Light and Power Co. of Ashley street, have been protected by floodgates across the end doors, which were put up when the stage was 25 feet, none too soon. A warehouse at Wharf and Carr streets has been pumping water from the basement.

Dray Caught in Switch.

A loaded three-horse dray, driven through water beneath the Eads bridge approach yesterday, was caught in a railroad switch, and considerable maneuvering was required to extricate it. Barefooturchins have had much fun wading in the "edge" of the flood; they seemed especially numerous in the flooded barge building plant of the St. Louis Boat and Engineering Co. at Franklin avenue yesterday. A boy caught a long, yellow snake in the water there.

Steamboats have continued to load and unload by the use of makeshift gangplanks, or even flatboats. Much driftwood and refuse of all sorts has been drifting past the city in the nine-miles-an-hour current. When the water recedes, workmen will wash the mud from the levee with hose.

The Missouri River at St. Charles this morning was 2 foot in 24 hours, and the fall was continuing.

Because of the flooding of the Missouri peninsula, intermingling cannot be made in the West Alton cemetery, and the body of Mrs. Mary Hannebaum of West Alton, who died Sunday, was taken to St. Charles yesterday for burial.

Map of Section of St. Charles County, Where Large Farm Areas Are Inundated

THE inland sea formed by the flooding of Missouri Point, the St. Charles County peninsula between the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers, is shown in black on this map. The greatest length of the inundated farming region, from the point to the vicinity of Portage des Sioux, is about 11½ miles. Below West Alton, it is three miles wide, and the length of the submerged area to the point is about four miles.

Looking south from the high streets of Alton, a vast lake is seen, with trees projecting from the water in places where wooded tracts have been overflowed. On Baylis Island, which the Alton Bridge crosses, a small tract remains out of water, but McKee and Dresser islands, above the bridge, are practically submerged. Due south from Alton the overflowed regions and the rivers themselves form a body of water extending for nine miles.

Portage des Sioux, the traditional spot where Indians landed their canoes to carry them from the Mississippi to the Missouri, there only two miles distant, and thus to avoid the journey of 25 miles around the point, is out of the water. At West Alton, the railroad tracks serve as embankments, but most of the levees have broken and thousands of acres of wheat are believed to have been destroyed by the continued inundation. The farmers along the Missouri River believe that the river will be found to have changed its course, so as to rob them of a considerable tract of land.

"OLD TOPPER," BEING TRIES TO KILL SELF IN SPIRITUALISM TEST

Man, Who Slept in Park, Discovers Unresponsive Neighbor on Another Bench.

When William Brusse, who said he had no home, was awakened from his sleep on the grass in O'Fallon Park by today's early morning storm, there was a man sitting on a bench near by.

"Good morning, old topper," William Brusse remarked pleasantly. "Old topper" didn't answer.

William Brusse found that the man was dead. Papers on the body bore the name of William R. Elgin, 57 years old, of 5123 Maffitt avenue, and indicated that Elgin was a member of the local carpenters' union.

Other papers indicated that Elgin had contracted for a portion of the building of a new house, and indicated that Elgin was a member of the local carpenters' union.

Letters Reflect Her Reasonings.

"That sears," he said, "but the idea into her head. She thought she could do better for me if she were dead, and would guide me from heaven."

"Dear, my heart is breaking at leaving you and you love the baby so, too," she wrote, "but remember, you are to get yourself another son and a sweet one, too, for I am going to guide you until you do."

"Darling Beloved Husband," another letter started, "I am writing you a line on this queer suicide and I know what everyone will say—'Oh, she has lost her mind—but I haven't by long way. I know just what I am doing. I want you to get married again if you wish. You know about spiritualism and I want you to go where you can talk with me.'"

"Will Try Again If I Recover."

She directed that she and the baby be buried in the same casket and said she did not want the bodies shipped back to Detroit. She suggested that the husband dispose of all of their household effects and other property and return to Detroit to live.

While physicians say there is little hope for the woman's recovery, she stated today that if she did get well she would try suicide again and "next time," she said, "I'll make a good job of it, you may be sure."

TROTS 256 MILES IN 50 HOURS

"Human Locomotive" Loses 25 Pounds in New York-to-Boston Jog. Special to the Post-Dispatch. BOSTON, April 14.—Samuel A. Johnson, "the human locomotive," steamed down School street and took the City Hall stairway leading to the Mayor's office two-at-a-hop about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, having dog trotted the 256 miles from New York City in less than 50 hours, and thus won a prize which he said is $5000.

Johnson left Broadway at 10:55 Monday morning. Monday night he trotted up to New Haven, and after a night's sleep started again Tuesday, continuing north to New London. He next hit Providence and came up from there Tuesday night. Starting Bostonward, he weighed in at 162, but had lost 25 pounds when he arrived here. He said he wore out two pairs of moccasins on the jaunt. He attributes his stamina to a heavy consumption of milk and poached eggs.

ALLIES SAID TO BE DIVIDED OVER PLAN FOR RUSSIA

Divergence of Opinion Develops at Morning Conference of "Big Four" Delegates, Italy Opposing Any Plan That Would Humiliate Soviets.

LOYD GEORGE WOULD GRANT INDEMNITY

Special Consultative Committee of Experts Meets to Devise Practical Plans for Straightening Out Europe's Economic Machinery.

By the Associated Press. GENOA, April 14.—Divergencies of opinion over Russia are reported to have developed at the meeting this morning of the economic conference's "big four" for discussion of the Russian problem.

The participants were Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain, Vice Premier Barthou of France, Foreign Minister Schanzer of Italy and Foreign Minister Van der Smissen of Belgium.

The Italian delegation confirmed the report that the document drawn up by the allied experts in London dealing with the question of Russia had been the subject of much discussion, had not been endorsed by the various allied governments. The Italian expert, indeed, had disapproved of those clauses of the report which, if put into effect, would humiliate Russia, it was declared.

Premier Favored Indemnity.

Lloyd George, it was asserted after the morning session, had favored the Russian proposal to grant indemnity for damages she had sustained as the result of military operations against the soviet regime.

It was stated that England and Italy advocated that the judicial and legal sentiment to be adopted for Russia should be such as not to consider her as a colony to be exploited, but as a state to be helped to re-enter the European family and to be co-operated with. Above all, the danger must be avoided, the Italian and English delegates are said to have argued, that the Russians should break off negotiations, having justice on their side or even appearing to have justice on their side. Therefore, it was argued, the solution of the Russian problem must not have a transitory character or even the appearance of putting Russia on probation.

Meeting Postponed Until Tuesday.

The meeting of the commission dealing with Russian affairs was again postponed today, going over to next Tuesday on request of the Russians, who are waiting for instructions from Premier Lenin.

While it was Russia and not Germany that was the subject of the forenoon today, the discussions outside the committee sessions brought the broad question of Germany's position into consideration, chiefly in connection with the attitude of France toward the conference in general.

This arose through the suggestion, which is coming from various quarters here, that as the conference proceeds there is a growing of the same tendency as existed at the Washington conference for France to fall into the position of defendant, and to some extent also into a position of political isolation.

This, it is pointed out, is chiefly the result of France's rigid stand on the question of German reparations. In explanation of this at least to some extent, the position of the French Cabinet as regards the Chamber of Deputies is pointed to the Cabinet naturally desiring to escape the fate of the Briand ministry.

Europe's financial tangle was brought to the front for consideration today. Sir Basil Blackett, controller of the British Treasury, called his special consultative committee of financial experts together, hoping to evolve the basis for a preliminary report to the financial commission of the conference tomorrow.

This special committee, which was appointed yesterday, comprises representatives of virtually every European country except Russia, and its members are reputed to be the leading financial experts of the continent. They are expected to devise practical plans for straightening out Europe's economic machinery.

After the meeting of the committee, the conference will continue tomorrow.

HALF OF CITY OF BEARDSTOWN NOW UNDER WATER

About Three-Fourths of Population of 8500 Driven From Homes or Residing in Second-Story Rooms.

WATERS OF ILLINOIS RIVER STILL RISING

Difficulty Experienced in Maintaining Sanitary Conditions—Crest Not Expected for Another Day.

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., April 14.—Waters of the Illinois River continued rising today and three-fourths of the population of this city of 8500 had been driven from their homes or were residing in second-story rooms. Half of the area of the city is under water.

Basements everywhere have been abandoned. Pressure on one water-proof basement caused its collapse, and the resultant settling of the building above it. Five business concerns flooded their basements yesterday afternoon to prevent a similar fate. Settling of business buildings and residences has already caused breakage of plate glass show windows, and the straining of door and window frames.

One cannot make the circuit of the public square and keep one's feet out of water. There is still one means of connection with the country at large. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad announced it would make all scheduled trains and would accommodate the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, which suspended operation at noon yesterday, after a washout within the city.

Some difficulty is being experienced in maintaining sanitary conditions, as many of the sewers have been broken. So far it is difficult to estimate the damage, but valuable stocks in several stores have been ruined. Crest of the flood is not expected for another day at least.

Relief workers of the Salvation Army and the Red Cross are working among the refugees, administering particularly to two babies, holed in army tents.

Needy persons were cheered by the gift of 4000 pounds of fresh fish distributed by the Salvation Army. This supply was donated by a local company, and was supplemented by the announcement that Beardstown still was able to take care of herself and needed no outside help.

River Boats in Streets.
Stranger sights than ever before have been seen today in the city. Double houseboats, which have never left the Illinois River before, are floating about the streets.

Within a five-mile stretch of Beardstown only one levee, that on Cole Creek, is still serving its purpose. It is supported by the railroad embankment of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad and will go immediately after the waters subside that company's trains will be able to take care of themselves and need no outside help.

Arkansas Penal Farm Flooded When Levee Breaks.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 14.—A loop levee between the Government levee and the Arkansas River at the State penal farm for negroes at Cummins went out at 4 o'clock this morning and permitted flooding of 1000 acres of farm lands being cultivated by convict labor, according to a dispatch to the Arkansas Democrat shortly after noon today. The Government levee is situated a half mile or more from the river and the loop was constructed to permit cultivation of State land lying between the levee and the river bank.

100-Foot Break in Levee in Union County, Ill., Reported.

A 100-foot break in the Mississippi River levee at Aldridge, Union County, Ill., below Grand Tower, was reported this afternoon. It was said that about 1000 acres of corn field would be overflowed. The Illinois Central tracks will prevent the overflowing a much larger tract.

Senate Passes Hospital Bill.

STORM DAMAGE FOLLOWS DEEP PALE BEFORE RAIN

cific Railroad, between Algonquin and Glendale stations, brushed the side of the Kirkwood accommodation train which left Union Station at 7:15 a. m., and broke several windows. Eight fine oaks on Fairway No. 1 of the Algonquin Club were blown down.

Trees and Poles Blown Down.

Trees and branches of trees, live wires and wire poles were reported blown down in all parts of the city and in many parts of St. Louis County. No serious damage from these sources was reported. One pole fell on Lindell boulevard in front of the New Cathedral. Gutters were full to overflowing in many streets and there were brief "floods" at some intersections.

Sewers were choked in Webster Groves.

The back water of the Missouri River, where the St. Charles road curves to the north, east of St. Charles, has washed the earthen shoulders from the concrete roadway, which was completed a few months ago. Men were put to work today repairing the damage. The road at this point was raised eight feet when it was improved, and otherwise it would have been under water now. Farther west, the road embankment has been protected by the embankments of the electric line and the Washburn Railroad.

Damage on East Side.

Similar damage was reported in East St. Louis. Part of the roof of a one-story frame dwelling at 47 Brookline avenue, occupied by the family of James Johnson, was blown off, and the contents of the building were damaged by water. A telephone pole in the alley in the rear of 524 North Twenty-sixth street was broken and the suspended part of the pole was blown about in a dangerous manner.

Some observers reported that the hail stones were of unusual size, some comparing their shape and dimensions to grapes and small birds' eggs. An examination offered for the falling of so many trees was that the ground, soggy from the recent rains, did not offer adequate resistance to the wind.

In the 24 hours ending at 7 a. m. today the rainfall was .65 of an inch. Including yesterday's record, but not including that of this morning, the total rainfall for April thus far has been 1.22 inches. The normal average precipitation for April, over a period of 40 years, is 2.32 inches. Last year's precipitation in April was unusually large, being 7.01 inches, and that of April, 1920, was 3.43 inches.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS DAMAGED BY WIND

The grade school and township high school buildings at O'Fallon, St. Clair County, eight miles north of Belleville, were damaged by this morning's storm. Gables were blown from the grade school, and the wind blew in the windows and wrecked chimneys of the high school. The damage occurred shortly before the time for opening school, and no injury to anyone was reported.

Poles were blown down on the electric line between Edgemont and O'Fallon, and traction and lighting power was cut off from O'Fallon.

Several instances of damage to property in and around the town were reported.

High wind in South Central Illinois caused damage at the towns of Sandoval, Alma, Carlyle, and Breese, which are on the Illinois Central, B. & O., and Southern railroads, within 70 miles of St. Louis.

At Alma, W. C. Morgan's shoulder was broken in an accident due to the wind. At this place two houses were blown down and one dwelling was unroofed.

The chief damage reported at Sandoval was to the office of the local newspaper, the Independent. The front window was blown in, and damage amounting to $1000 was inflicted on this and surrounding buildings.

At Carlyle and Breese, the chief damage reported was to railroad property. Telegraph poles were blown down at those towns and at points along the line of the B. & O. and the Southern.

Auto and Two Men Swept Off Road at Edwardsville.

A car in which H. O. and A. G. Klein of Collinsville were driving to Springfield was swept off the road by the rush of water, and they were forced to wade and swim to higher ground. It was expected the water would run off by night. Parts of the Madison County Courthouse were flooded by water which backed up through the sewers.

Reports from the country around Edwardsville were that a severe hail storm, which accompanied the rain, had done much damage to fruit trees by beating off the buds.

EMBEZZLED $1500 TO FURNISH HOME OF OWN

Employee of Printing Firm Tells of Unwillingness to Live With Wife's Relatives.

Unwillingness to live with his wife's relatives any longer caused Thomas A. Kerr, 38 years old, to embezzle about $1500 from his employer, the Mendie Printing Co., 803 Lucas avenue. In order to buy furniture and establish a household of his own, he told the police today, following his arrest. Max J. Epstein, secretary of the company, said, however, that the amount was nearer $2500.

Kerr is an Englishman, and came to this country about 10 years ago, giving up a good position, he said, to follow the young woman who later became his wife. He saved $1800 for furniture once, he said, but his wife used it for a trip to England, and he had to begin all over again.

This process looked too slow, so about eight months ago, he began padding the payroll of the company, where he has been employed more than a year. This was done by debiting the employees with more pay than they actually received.

Three months ago he bought the coveted furniture, and established a residence at 4409 Greer avenue. His father, he said, was a Major in the British army and his brother is a Captain.

The letter, addressed to and read to the House by Representative Longworth, Republican, Ohio, said that a navy of 67,000 men might be reached, ultimately, but "the trend toward peace and security ought to be more firmly established before going beyond the limitations to which we were gladly committed at the international conference."

The President, while "not doubting the good faith of the committee majority," said he must believe in the good faith of the navy and naval advisers, who declared very emphatically it was impossible to maintain within the proposed appropriation the standard set for the navy at the conference and which was proclaimed to the world.

Miss Alice Robertson, Republican, of Oklahoma, only woman member of the House, during a 10-minute speech on the bill, declared women, as advisers to the arms conference delegation, had helped fix the 5-5-3 ratio, below which she, as a woman, thought Congress should not go in fixing the enlisted strength of the navy. Announcing she had just received "orders" from the American Association of University Women to support the "small navy" program, Miss Robertson attacked the organization as "the most powerful lobby" in Washington.

HARDING URGES NAVY OF NOT LESS THAN 86,000

President in Letter to House Says Says Smaller Personnel Would Be Disappointing.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 14.—President Harding in a letter read today to the House urged that the naval supply bill provide for a more adequate enlisted force than 67,000 as fixed by the appropriations committee.

While the decision must lie with Congress, the President said he could only repeat formally what he had said informally, that he was persuaded it would not be wise to make so drastic a cut as proposed in the House bill.

The President said he would be greatly disappointed, as he knew the country would be, if the enlisted personnel was reduced below 86,000, the figure which has been proposed by the "big navy" group.

The letter, addressed to and read to the House by Representative Longworth, Republican, Ohio, said that a navy of 67,000 men might be reached, ultimately, but "the trend toward peace and security ought to be more firmly established before going beyond the limitations to which we were gladly committed at the international conference."

The President, while "not doubting the good faith of the committee majority," said he must believe in the good faith of the navy and naval advisers, who declared very emphatically it was impossible to maintain within the proposed appropriation the standard set for the navy at the conference and which was proclaimed to the world.

Miss Alice Robertson, Republican, of Oklahoma, only woman member of the House, during a 10-minute speech on the bill, declared women, as advisers to the arms conference delegation, had helped fix the 5-5-3 ratio, below which she, as a woman, thought Congress should not go in fixing the enlisted strength of the navy. Announcing she had just received "orders" from the American Association of University Women to support the "small navy" program, Miss Robertson attacked the organization as "the most powerful lobby" in Washington.

CAMPANELLA CASE INQUIRY GOES OVER TO NEXT THURSDAY

East St. Louis Fire and Police Commissioners Decide to Await Filing of Written Charges.

RESOLUTION FOR FULL INVESTIGATION

Action Provides for Consideration of Any and All Charges Against Members of Police Department.

The East St. Louis Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, which was to have started an investigation of police "third degree" methods in connection with the death March 25 in the East St. Louis jail of John Campanella, a prisoner, adjourned until next Thursday night to give time for the filing of written charges against detectives alleged to have plugged Campanella while endeavoring to force a confession of murder from him.

The meeting was called to order by President George Roe, who announced that the board was ready to receive complaints or charges against any police officer. City Commissioner M. J. Whalen, who introduced the resolution in the City Council recently, calling for the investigation, announced that he understood the meeting last night was to be a time at which evidence was to be taken and that he was unprepared to present his evidence. A motion to begin the hearings next Thursday was carried, which Whalen said would give him and others time to present their charges in regular form.

Two Resolutions Adopted. A resolution introduced in the City Council yesterday by Mayor M. M. Stephens, charging that complaints are made that the police commit men to convict themselves by forced confession, and urging that the investigation be broadened to include the use of any and all cases and that policemen against whom charges are made be suspended pending the investigation, was unanimously adopted.

A resolution calling upon the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners to "investigate all rumors and charges of misconduct in the police department," introduced by Commissioner O'Leary, was also unanimously adopted. This resolution officially authorizes the Police Board to go beyond the Campanella case.

While the board had not received the resolution last night, President Roe had been informed of it and announced that each complaint would be dealt with separately and not tried jointly with the Campanella case.

Grand Jury Inquiry. The St. Clair County grand jury at Belleville yesterday began inquiry into the Campanella case. Charles McNelly, turnkey and wagon driver of the East St. Louis Police Department, who found Campanella's body in the cell and reported that Campanella had hanged himself with his shirt, appeared before the grand jury. Other witnesses who claim to have evidence that Campanella was severely beaten by detectives, will be called.

Mrs. Campanella has appealed to Louis Roe, Overseer of the Poor, for aid for herself and four children, claiming she is destitute. At her request her youngest child, Antonio, 3 years old, was placed in the dependent children's home until such time as she may be able to care for it. Ross said he would see that Mrs. Campanella was provided for.

Man Who Killed Woman Acquitted. A jury here last night acquitted Walter H. Smith, 43 years old, of the charge of murdering Mrs. Catherine Johnson, who was shot to death on the front porch of the Smith home here about noon of Feb. 3 last. Smith pleaded self-defense. He testified that he had been in fear of Mrs. Johnson, formerly his housekeeper, and that on the day of the killing she went to his house, accompanied by a man, to whom she handed a pistol. Smith said he fired through a window. Smith's 16-year-old wife, a State witness, testified Mrs. Johnson, as far as she could see, was unarmed.

Man Killed in Powder Explosion. CHARLESTON, S. C., April 14.—J. Hill White, foreman, was blown to pieces yesterday in an explosion of ammunition salvaged magazine near the general ordnance depot at North Charleston, 16 miles from here. More than 50 box cars were damaged. Trackage was torn up and a number of unoccupied houses in the section were wrecked. The cause of the explosion, which was felt in a radius of several miles, had not been determined last night.

"Fisherman's Luck" on English Pier. SOUTHEAST, England, March 27.—An angler toiled a whole afternoon on Southeast pierhead and caught nothing. Then a fine mullet was seen dangling on the end of his line. He opened his mouth with a shout of joy and his recently fitted set of 100 worth $50, fell into the deep and was lost.

Family of East St. Louis Man Who Was Found Dead in Cell

FAMILY of the late John Campanella, East St. Louis rooming house and saloon proprietor, whose death March 25 in a cell at the East St. Louis Police Station is being investigated by the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners. The picture shows Mrs. Campanella with Tony, 3 years old, in her lap; Frank, 13, with his sister, Fifi, 5, standing in front of him, and John, 10.

MOVE TO CONTROL ROADS LAID TO CONVERSION OF RAILWAY LEASE

Solicitor-General Beck Ends Argument in Southern Pacific and Central Pacific Case. WASHINGTON, April 14.—Closing the Government's argument in the Supreme Court suit to compel the Southern Pacific to release control over the Central Pacific, Solicitor-General Beck declared yesterday that the alleged unlawful combination formed by the Southern Pacific and the Central Pacific in 1885, inspired the move to gain control of practically every transcontinental railroad, Beck asserted. Describing how all the other combinations had been ordered dissolved by the Supreme Court, the Solicitor General added: "We are now on the last lap of the journey. We are now facing not only the first, but also the worst of these offenders."

Whisky Raids in Belleville. Boy, Aged 7, Warns Officers Not to Disturb Papa's Still. Two soft drink saloons and a private residence were searched by police officers in Belleville yesterday. The saloon of Henry Miller, 624 South Illinois street, four gallons of moonshine were found, according to the officers, and at that time a boy, aged 7, warned the officers not to disturb his father's still. The men have been notified to appear in East St. Louis. At the Chucholik home, a 7-year-old son of the owner advised the officers not to disturb the still as his "papa" uses it to make whisky. He also explained to the officer how moonshine is manufactured, according to Charles Short, the prohibition enforcement officer.

Clayton Officials Take Office. Clayton officials, elected last week, formally took office last night. They are Mayor Julius Nolte and Aldermen John Grueninger, Henry Rice, George Roth and Scott Smith. The board elected August Elbring City Clerk, and the following appointments were made by the Mayor and approved by the Aldermen: Elfr Chief, John O'Sullivan; City Attorney, Clarence Wolff; Street Commissioner, John Alt, and City Engineer, Edgar Rapp. Mayor Nolte, Aldermen Smith and Dr. J. D. Sudduth will constitute the Board of Health.

Mrs. Robert Grosvenor Hurt. NEWPORT, R. I., April 14.—Mrs. Robert Grosvenor, of New York and Newport, is believed to be dying in a Newport hospital today of injuries received when thrown from her saddle horse yesterday when the animal ran away. Her spine was fractured. Mrs. Grosvenor clung to her frightened horse's neck, while the animal raced madly three miles with automobile and policemen trying vainly to stop its flight.

Teamster Killed in Runaway. John F. McCoy, 49, 3112 Clark avenue, a teamster, employed by the Automobile Gasoline Co., was run over and killed by his own wagon, loaded with cinders, yesterday noon, on the Clayton road near the Kirtwood-Ferguson car tracks. McCoy had gotten off the wagon in an effort to make his team pull out of mud at the side of the pavement, when the horse became frightened and lunged forward. He was run over, and entangled in the lines, was dragged about 15 feet.

Ames Place Association Officers. The following officers of the Ames Place Association of University City were elected last night: Oliver Abel, president; Richard Heron, vice president; Elbring secretary; C. J. Technow, treasurer. A Vigilance Committee to look after the protection of homes and a Smoke Abatement Committee were appointed.

Man Killed in Powder Explosion. CHARLESTON, S. C., April 14.—J. Hill White, foreman, was blown to pieces yesterday in an explosion of ammunition salvaged magazine near the general ordnance depot at North Charleston, 16 miles from here. More than 50 box cars were damaged. Trackage was torn up and a number of unoccupied houses in the section were wrecked. The cause of the explosion, which was felt in a radius of several miles, had not been determined last night.

"Fisherman's Luck" on English Pier. SOUTHEAST, England, March 27.—An angler toiled a whole afternoon on Southeast pierhead and caught nothing. Then a fine mullet was seen dangling on the end of his line. He opened his mouth with a shout of joy and his recently fitted set of 100 worth $50, fell into the deep and was lost.

10-GALLON KEG IN AUTO "FOR A FRIEND"

Two Men Arrested When Police Became Suspicious of Contents of Container.

When policemen saw a large box in an automobile standing in front of the saloon of Herman Staminger, 2133 South Seventh street, yesterday they asked Adolph Heike, 2110 De Kalb street, driver of the machine, what the box contained. "I don't know," Heike replied. "You'll have to ask Staminger. He put the box in my machine for me to take to Union Station."

Instead of asking Staminger, the police opened the box and found it contained a 10-gallon keg of alleged wine. Staminger admitted it was his. He said he was going to ship it to a friend. Both men were arrested and Heike's machine was confiscated.

Five-Gallon Can of Liquid in Suitcase. Joseph Palazzolo, 28, of 912A Bidle street, was carrying a suitcase at Eleventh and O'Fallon streets, when police stopped him last night. Palazzolo said he did not know what the suitcase contained. A man had given him $1 to carry it for him. The suitcase was opened and a five-gallon can of supposed whisky found in it.

Police went to the tenement building in which Palazzolo lives and, in the home of Dominic Pinda, found several five-gallon cans and jugs of so-called whisky. Pinda was not at home at the time. Assistant Night Chief of police Bunde, with his squad of raiders, went to the saloon of Theodore Meyers, 1900 Union boulevard, and arrested Meyers and Andrew B. Johnson, 53, of 8227 Cote Brillante avenue, who was behind the bar, after several gallons of alleged whisky had been found in a hallway leading to Meyers' home above the saloon. As the officers came in with the whisky, Meyers fell from a chair in a faint. He was taken to the city hospital and booked a prisoner.

Fred Neudeck, proprietor of a saloon at 5231 Gravois avenue, was arrested after a quart of so-called whisky was found hidden away in a hole beneath the drainboard.

End of Unemployment Is Predicted in 60 Days. Charles J. Boyd of Chicago, general superintendent of the free employment offices in that city conducted by the State of Illinois, in an address yesterday at the National Catholic Community House, East St. Louis, predicted that there will be no unemployment 60 days from now, and that wages will increase as the supply of labor decreases.

The address was one of several delivered during an all-day session of the superintendents of the free employment offices maintained by the State of Illinois, all of whom predicted a gradual decrease in unemployment until laborers will be employed during the coming summer.

Doctor in Van Blarcom Case Gets $255. Probate Judge Holtcamp today allowed $255 to Dr. Theodore H. Romer for services performed for Frederick Van Blarcom in connection with Van Blarcom's successful effort to have his guardianship removed. Dr. Romer has filed a claim for $400. The allowance included $100 a day for two days in court during the hearing on Van Blarcom's sanity, and the remainder was for examinations made by Dr. Romer prior to the hearing.

Wirth's Powerful Baritone, Singing as He Bathes, Awakens Hotel Guests

GENOVA, April 14. ITALIANS living in the vicinity of the Eden Palace Hotel were awakened at 7 o'clock yesterday morning by a powerful baritone singing German songs, college and peasant songs were being sung by a joyous person, awakened by the brilliant Italian sun to the fresh spring morning, the blossoming trees and the blue Mediterranean.

It was Chancellor Wirth indulging in his custom of singing as he bathed and dressed. Asked about it later, he said: "I like to have my own song before I take up the song of the press."

TWO MEN SLIGHTLY BURNED WHEN NAPHTHA IS IGNITED

Cause of Accident at Dyeing and Cleaning Plant Undermined; Damage About $300.

Ignition of naphtha that was being pumped from an underground reservoir to a tank at 9 a. m. today in a detached one-story brick building of the Chapman Bros. Cleaning and Dyeing Co., 3100 Arsenal street, resulted in slight burns to two men and about $300 damage to the building.

The men burned, Jacob Hirschler, 51 years old, of 6815 Fyler avenue, and Allen Smith, negro, 27, of 6145 Minerva avenue, were given first aid treatment at a hospital and sent to their homes.

Gilbert Chapman, president of the company, said it had not been determined what ignited the naphtha. There was a storm at the time, and, he said, lightning could have caused it.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH VERDICT

A Coroner's verdict of accidental death was returned today in the case of Aubrey M. Koelling, 26 years old, of 6941 Margaretta avenue, who was injured fatally yesterday when the truck he was driving was struck by Washah passenger train No. 14 at a crossing between Cates and Clemens avenues, near Delmar Station.

Testimony at the inquest showed that Koelling, who had unloaded his truck at a dump near the crossing, had driven the machine almost on the tracks, when he attempted to reverse it as the train whistled for the crossing. He seemed unable to back the truck, however, and just before the train reached him, started suddenly forward. His skull was fractured and he suffered internal injuries when thrown from the truck at the impact.

"RADIO RIOT" IS STAGED BY AMATEURS

Interesting Demonstration by St. Louis Sending Stations—K S D Program for Tonight.

Radio amateurs of St. Louis gave an interesting demonstration last night when station K S D was silent for five minutes to allow the president of the St. Louis Radio Association, Dr. Charles L. Klenk, to make a statement concerning the drive for increased membership and to explain the benefits it offers to all interested in wireless. To illustrate one of the functions of the association—air traffic rules—and to show what might result without these regulations, Dr. Klenk asked all sending stations, at the end of his address, to operate for two minutes under full power.

No sooner had Dr. Klenk given the word than transmitters were busy with international code signals. Rotary spark gaps, C.W. outfits and the smaller spark coils all joined in a medley of dots and dashes. At the end of two minutes the confusion ceased and the regular program of K S D was resumed.

Talk for the Boy Scouts. Boy Scout receiving sets all over Missouri and Illinois were tuned in to hear the program of K S D of the Post-Dispatch last night, and reports of the entire program are expected from these sources in the next two days. National Scout Executive Dr. George J. Fisher of New York, who was one of the speakers, had sent out a request that the Scout wireless instruments be on the alert to hear his talk, and for that reason his address was directed chiefly to the Boy Scouts within the radius of the K S D station.

Dr. Fisher told the Scouts and others that there are several million boys in America ready to become Boy Scouts the minute competent leaders can be found. The greatest need in the Boy Scout movement at present, he said, is for leaders to carry out the big program now being put into effect by the national organization. The greatest discovery of the twentieth century, he declared, is the American boy, but that discovery and its benefits will be lost if there are no leaders. This led to an appeal by radio to the men who were hearing the talk to become Scout leaders and help in perfecting the great discovery.

Post-Dispatch Radio Station K S D

360 Meters Friday Radio Schedule 4:00 P. M. Market and News Reports 7:45 P. M. Musical selections for tuning in. 8:00 P. M. Musical Numbers—Brunswick selections. Baseball scores.

Address—"The Benefits of a Community Chest"—Elwood Street, director of the Community Council of St. Louis. Address—"Distribution of State Ex-Service Men's 'Bonus'"—Jerome F. Duggan, chairman of the City Executive Committee of the American Legion. Musical Numbers.

was given by Homer Hall, general counsel of the Washah Railroad, who is president of the Tuberculosis Society of St. Louis. By statistics and otherwise Hall showed that tuberculosis, which formerly killed more people than any other five diseases, now has been driven to third place in the list by the reduction of a proportion of about 30 per cent in the tuberculosis rate.

He told what is being done everywhere in the effort to conquer this disease, and urged the public to assist in still further reducing the death rate by observing simple health rules.

Musical Program. Three well-known St. Louis artists presented the remainder of the program. Miss Ruth Kelso read a group of poems by Edgar Guest and Julia Masfield. Mrs. Birdie Kilpeck Smith, soprano, and Mrs. Stacy Niederlander Cooper, pianist, gave the musical numbers, an aria from Verdi's "Aida," a song by MacDermid and the Last "Liebestraum."

Although staid conditions were unfavorable at brief intervals, they did not interfere in the least with the success of broadcasting the program, according to reports which came in during the evening. All reports were that the listeners in were getting all parts of the program.

H. B. Owsley Sued for Divorce. Mrs. M. S. Owsley, 5562 Clemens avenue, yesterday filed suit to divorce H. B. Owsley, formerly a real estate salesman here, but who is now living at Santa Barbara, Cal. She alleges that shortly after their marriage, June 23, 1921, she was forced to seek employment at Miami, Fla., to provide herself with the necessities of life, and that her husband associated with other women. She asks for alimony, stating that Owsley has an interest in a large estate of his mother. The couple separated Feb. 13.

LEAHY DECIDES TO QUALIFY AS COLLECTOR

Judgeship for Garesche Also Probable as Result of Goldstein's Trip to Washington.

A decision by John S. Leahy to accept the position of United States Internal Revenue Collector in St. Louis and the probable appointment of Circuit Judge Garesche to the Federal judgeship to be created by a bill pending in Congress, are the net results indicated by dispatches from Washington of Circuit Clerk Goldstein's visit there this week. Goldstein is expected home this evening.

Leahy's delay in accepting the judgeship, to which he was appointed in January, was causing much concern to the Republican job seekers, who were expecting the nearly 60 jobs under him, and the primary purpose of Goldstein's Washington trip was to meet Leahy and Senator Spencer, and to demand that Leahy either get on the job or permit the appointment of somebody who would take it, and distribute the patronage. The Garesche candidacy was incidental.

The Washington dispatches quote Leahy to the effect that he will return to St. Louis within a few days, and will qualify for the office. The bill creating an additional Federal judgeship in St. Louis has passed the Senate and is pending in the House. Garesche has the support of nearly all the Republicans who have influence with Attorney General Dugherly, who will direct the appointment. Since Goldstein has been in Washington, Senator Spencer has announced he favored Garesche, which was expected. Spencer and Garesche have occupied law offices in the same suite before Garesche was elected. Circuit Judge J. L. Babler, Republican national committeeman, and the controlling forces in the Republican City Committee also are supporting Garesche.

JOHN MCCORMACK IS PAST CRISIS IN SERIOUS ILLNESS

Tonsillitis, Developing Into Throat Inflammation, Nearly Suffocated Noted Tenor.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 14.—John McCormack, the Irish tenor, has just passed the crisis of a much more serious illness than the public announcements have indicated since last Sunday, when his Hippodrome concert was canceled.

He was repeatedly on the point of suffocation Tuesday night and again on Wednesday, his concert manager, D. P. McSweeney, admitted yesterday. Two throat specialists and McCormack's own physician have been working over him, and it is only now that he is considered out of immediate danger.

The diagnosis made by Dr. Dupont is: "Tonsillitis which developed into a septic throat and oedema of the uvula, almost to the extinction of breathing."

The first hoarseness appeared after a concert in Chicago April 2. McCormack's physician induced him to cancel a concert scheduled for April 5 in Detroit and to return to New York. Last Sunday morning his tonsils suddenly grew inflamed. Monday night it was necessary to begin lancing inflamed areas in his throat in order to give him relief.

He is now very weak. He has lost 16 pounds in four days, but his doctors say recovery has commenced. They advise him to have his tonsils removed, inasmuch as he has previously had minor attacks of tonsillitis, but he refuses.

Although his tonsils are higher in his throat than his sound-producing mechanism and have no direct connection with it, McCormack is nevertheless afraid that any change made by cutting out any of the lumps and shapes which his voice encounters on the way out might spoil the quality of his tones. He would sooner risk tonsillitis again than that.

$1,000,000 to Aid New York Veterans
By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 13.—First steps for relief of unemployed and disabled war veterans of New York State, under provisions of a bill just signed by Gov. Miller, were taken yesterday at a meeting of the Veterans' Relief Committee established by the act. The law has made available $1,000,000 for the immediate relief of veterans. A veteran suffering from sickness or disability incurred during his service or as a result thereof and who has been out of regular employment for two weeks may receive $30 a month if without dependents or $35 a month if he has dependents.

Bonus Bill Action Deferred.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 14.—Consideration of the soldiers' bonus bill has been deferred by the Senate Finance Committee until next Monday. At that time decision will be reached as to a program. Officers of the American Legion probably will be heard Wednesday.

Airplane Ticket Office.
By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 14.—An airplane company has opened a downtown passenger ticket office here. A passenger can make a trip by rail to Chicago and turn his return ticket over to someone in Chicago who will be carried on the return flight.

PRESIDENT OF UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN REPLIES TO BRYAN

Doesn't Think Taxpayers Have Asked a Chastity Lecturer to Examine Religious Views.

MADISON, Wis., April 14.—The demand of William J. Bryan made in a letter recently that President E. A. Birge of the University of Wisconsin state his views on certain religious doctrines for the benefit of the "taxpayers" of Wisconsin, was answered yesterday by President Birge, with the statement that he did not believe that the taxpayers "have now designated a chastity lecturer from Florida to start a theological grand jury inquiry of this kind in their name."

Referring to the controversy months ago, when Bryan declared President Birge to be an atheist, the president yesterday said that "Bryan now finding that his charge of atheism will not hold, has shifted his ground."

"I have no reason to think that the taxpayers desire such information even if they had the right to ask for it."

"I do not believe they consider it any of their business to investigate the attitude of teachers toward theological doctrines and opinions, which the constitution of the State does not permit the teacher to prevent in the public schools."

Bank Guard Confesses Robbery.

CATANIA, Sicily, April 14.—The mystery surrounding the theft of 11,000,000 lire from the local branch of the Banco di Sicilia a week ago has been cleared up by the confession of the bank's guard, Martorano. Several days were consumed in engineering the robbery. Martorano told the police. The iron bolts and bars of the safe deposit vault were sawed one by one, and the cracks filled with black wax to prevent detection.

AUTO DRIVER CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Two Indictments Against R. C.
Durant as Result of Collision
Fatal to Two Men.

Roscoe C. Durant, a salesman, 418 Kansas street, is charged with manslaughter in two indictments returned yesterday by the grand jury.
The indictments are for the deaths of two persons who were fatally injured in an automobile accident the evening of April 6, when a machine driven by Durant collided with another automobile at Broadway and Eichelberger avenue.

The accident occurred when Durant's machine, being driven south in Broadway, struck an automobile driven by Fred Feuer, 32, of 2648 St. Vincent avenue, as Feuer's car turned north into Broadway out of Eichelberger avenue. Feuer's machine was hurled into a trolley pole and Durant's machine overturned. Feuer suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries. Charles Marty, 39, a salesman, of 716 Kansas street, who was riding with Durant, was thrown to the street. His skull also was fractured.

Testimony at the Coroner's inquest was that Durant and those with him had stopped at a soft drink saloon some time prior to the accident. Miss Myrtle Westbrook, 32, 2646 Gravois avenue, testified nothing but soft drinks were had by the party. A patrolman said Durant had told him he had taken several drinks of liquor. Durant was held on a charge of criminal carelessness at that time.

Four men riding with Feuer were slightly injured. Durant escaped with minor bruises. Feuer also was held responsible in the Coroner's verdict, following the inquest into Marty's death. Feuer then was at the city hospital, where he died two days after the accident.

KING CONSTANTINE ILL AGAIN

Suffers Attack and Partly Recovers;
Princess Still Sick.

By the Associated Press.
ATHENS, April 14.—King Constantine was seized with a sudden attack of vomiting at noon yesterday similar to that he suffered last summer at Eski-Shehr, while touring the Greek war front. He was in a state of exhaustion after the attack, but a bulletin issued last evening by his physicians said he had almost recovered.

Princess Elizabeth, wife of Crown Prince George, who is suffering from typhoid fever, was reported last night as resting comfortably, although with abnormal temperature and pulse.

BODIES OF 7 ST. LOUIS SOLDIERS DUE TOMORROW

One Commissioned Officer Included in Group Who Left to Live Abroad in War.

Bodies of seven St. Louisans who died in the world war will arrive here tomorrow for permanent burial. The body of one commissioned officer is included in the group—First Lieutenant Frank W. Long, 31, who was killed in action Oct. 15, 1918. He served with F Company, Fifty-first Pioneer Infantry. His next of kin is given as Mrs. Thekla Long, 5644 Burtmer avenue.

Bodies of the others and the relatives to whom they are being sent, are: Sergt. Bernard S. Reuter, 254th Infantry, Mrs. Hulda E. Reuter of 2111 Illinois avenue. Corp. Barney L. Jastrzemski, Fifty-sixth Infantry, John Jastrzemski of 2224 Dakota street, Engelbach, 1828th (St. Louis) Infantry, George Engelbach, 4225 Gibson avenue. Harry Dedson Jr., Provisional Laundry Unit A, Mrs. Rosella Dodgson of 1007 North Broadway. William J. Ernst, 116th Supply Train, William J. Flanagan of 1432 North Twenty-second street. Jacob L. Feldman, 254th Infantry, Mrs. Pauline Elnsen of 2421 Gamble street.

The bodies will be part of 26 being sent to Missouri and Illinois towns, which will arrive at Union Station at 11:15 a. m. tomorrow on the Washburn Railroad. It is said the bodies of some other St. Louisans who were killed in the war are in this country and will be brought here. No more bodies will be returned from France.

TAXI ASSOCIATION FORMED

An organization to be called the "City" Taxi-Service Association was formed at a meeting Wednesday night at Eagles' Hall, Jefferson and Lafayette avenues, where 111 service car-washers enrolled as members.

The purpose, as explained by the secretary-treasurer, E. C. Graham, is to obtain better and more regular service, relieve traffic congestion and that the traffic laws are enforced, and to prosecute unlicensed service car operators, of which he said there are a large number in the city. A campaign is expected to get 100 new members for the next meeting Tuesday. Other temporary officers are E. J. O'Hearn, president, and George Schmidt, vice president.

Vesuvio

A pure, highly concentrated Grape Juice particularly rich in Grape Sugar and Organic Salts.

Used with four times its volume of water, Vesuvio makes an unequalled, delicious, soft drink—highly nutritious and tonic. In concentrated form, it makes a wonderful Sundae syrup for Ice Cream. Fine for Cakes, Sherbets, Lemonades, etc.

To make a wonderful Grape Juice, mix one quart Vesuvio with three quarts of cold water.

CAUTION— Vesuvio must not be mixed with warm water and allowed to stand in a warm place, or it will ferment.

In Quart Cans, at $2.00 per Can. At Your Dealer's. Send for Recipe Book.

Backache!

Kidneys Fail

Failure of the kidneys to promptly and thoroughly act, brings on a train of life and continued neglect results frequently in Bright's Disease, Uremia, Poisoning, and Chronic Rheumatism, also a very serious nerve disorder often follows. Backache, headache, restlessness, dry skin, hot flashes, and chills, should cause you to suspect the kidney action. For these symptoms, pressure and pain in bladder region, pain in groin and back, swelling of feet and ankles, accompanied by slight fever, chills, headache and rheumatism twinges.

Begin right away to use Balmwort Tablets, and the quick relief will come, for they are true kidney medicine. Mrs. Frank Monahan, 1513 Fenrose St., St. Louis, writes: "I am taking Balmwort Kidney Tablets and must say they are the finest thing on the market—and I feel I could not live if I had to be without them." Go now to your druggist, and get the good medicine, Balmwort Tablets. Two sizes, 40c and $1.25. Free Medical Book and Sample Tablets to anyone sending 25 cents in stamps to The Balmwort Products Co., Dept. A, Dayton, Ohio.

Every garment purchased up to 6 p. m. Saturday will be altered and ready for Easter.

DEATH PENALTY FOR WELSH SOLICITOR

He Was Charged With Poisoning His Wife After Getting Her to Change Her Will.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, April 14.—Maj. Herbert Rowse Armstrong, a leading solicitor and citizen of the little Welsh town of Hay, yesterday was found guilty and sentenced to death for poisoning his wife with arsenic, after one of the most sensational trials in this country in many years. He also was charged with attempting to poison Oswald Martin, a rival solicitor.

The prosecution suggested that Armstrong killed his wife after getting her to change her will, leaving all her property to him, and in order to be free to marry another woman to whom he proposed after his wife's death. The latter point formed an intriguing mystery, as the identity of the attractive woman in question was unknown to the public, her name being suppressed when she appeared in the witness box.

The defense admitted Mrs. Armstrong might have died of arsenic poisoning, but suggested the case was either suicide or an accident through taking medicines containing the poison, and maintained Armstrong bought the arsenic for killing weeds.

A gruesome phase of the prosecution was the description of how Armstrong, by repeated doses of arsenic, brought his wife to such a condition she had to be sent to an asylum. After her partial recovery he got her back home and renewed the poisoning with the fatal result.

It was charged that Armstrong invited Martin to his home for tea and gave him hot biscuit with arsenic spread under the butter.

BANK TELLER GETS 3 YEARS FOR EMBEZZLING $6000

Arkansas Man Last January Attached Baggage of Wealthy New York Woman Here.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 14.—Hiram G. Shaw, former teller in the Citizens' National Bank of Hot Springs, yesterday was sentenced by United States District Judge Trier to three years in the penitentiary, following his conviction of a charge of embezzling approximately $6000 from the bank.

Shaw was found not guilty Wednesday of a second count in the indictment against him which charged misappropriation of $6000 of the bank's funds.

Shaw last January got an attachment against the baggage and other personal property of Mrs. Beverly D. Harris of New York, wife of a vice president of the National City Bank there, who was at the Hotel Statler. Shaw alleged that he had loaned Mrs. Harris $3000 in St. Louis last June, of which she had paid back only $1000. A watchman stayed at the hotel three or four days to protect the claim, until the attachment was withdrawn by agreement of counsel.

Man Hurt by Bursting Still Is Freed.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—The United States Government has taken pity on a defendant in Federal Court who had been seriously burned by the explosion of a still in his home and who was charged with violating the prohibition law. The prisoner, Hugh West, nearly lost his life in the explosion. After viewing the many scars on his face, neck and hands, Assistant United States Attorney Wade yesterday asked for his discharge. "The defendant surely has had sufficient punishment," said Wade. The prisoner was released.

DAY ONLY REQUIRED OF ANY TO GET DIVORCE IN YUCATAN

Legislature Changes Law Permitting Decree Without Alleging Any Particular Grounds.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1933.)
MEXICO, Yucatan, April 14.—Reno, and all the "divorce centers" in the United States, have a dangerous rival now. The Yucatan Legislature has just changed this country's divorce laws so that foreigners can get a divorce here after one day's residence and without alleging any particular grounds.
Until recently the law demanded six months' residence before a divorce could be granted. But this the legislature considered an undue discrimination against foreigners, for Yucatan is a Socialist state and believes in absolute internationalism.
The fare from New York to Progreso, Yucatan, is less than from New York to Reno; the cost of living here is much less than in the United States, and Yucatan's climate is delightful.

LAST OF PEGGY HOPKINS ROMANCE BILLS PAID BY JOYCE

Chicago Lumberman Settles With Firm for $108,485 and Forfeits Right to Diamond Tiara.
CHICAGO, April 14.—J. Stanley Joyce yesterday paid his last bill as the result of his brief but hectic romance with Peggy Hopkins Joyce, his former wife. The millionaire lumberman, through his attorneys, entered into an agreement to pay $108,485.75 to Carter, Inc., of Paris, and New York, in settlement of promissory notes, and a suit brought by local counsel for Carter, Inc., will be dismissed.
By terms of the agreement Joyce forfeits all "right, title and interest in the famous diamond tiara mounted in platinum with a pear-shaped diamond as a pendant," which once graced the blonde head of Peggy.
The promissory notes will be returned to him, as well as an oval black cigarette holder with an emerald and ruby monogram.

Schooner Load of Liquor Seized.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 14.—The two-masted schooner W. F. Dodge, said to be bound from Nassau in the Bahamas for St. Pierre, Miquelon, with a load of liquor, was seized by a police patrol as she was entering the Narrows early today. The police said they found 25 barrels of rye whisky and 408 cases of Scotch. The craft was flying the British flag. The police said no documents were found to indicate her owners.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE UPHOLD
Validity of $85,000 Flotation by Ritenour District Sustained.
A recent decision by Circuit Judge McElhinney at Clayton upheld the validity of a $85,000 bond issue authorized by the voters of the Ritenour (St. Louis County) school district Oct. 11 last. A small group had opposed the bond issue, which was wanted to provide on behalf of the Ritenour Consolidated School Board questioned the constitutionality of a new law authorizing tests of the validity of such bond issues in Circuit Court.

The decision had the effect of upholding the law on this subject. The school board has been authorized to provide portable buildings for the time being until the bonds can be sold for the erection of the high school.

Scientists Baffled by Case of Modern Rap Van Winkle at Fort Smith, Sufferer From Pellagra.
AWOKE TWICE FOR FEW MINUTES IN 1921
On One of These Occasions He Did Not Speak and on Other He Asked for Chew of Tobacco.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
FORT SMITH, Ark., April 14.—Asleep for seven years and a half with only two brief waking intervals, "Jim" Eashlinger, a modern Rap Van Winkle, died here yesterday.
Admitted to a local hospital in 1914, Eashlinger died in ignorance of the world war. Through all that long conflict he slumbered on, with scarcely a murmur from his half-parted lips.
A mystery to physicians and scientists of both America and Europe, the sleeper passed away with only a faint sigh. The nurses said he seemed glad to give up the long fight.
Eashlinger and four children came here in February, 1914, suffering from pellagra. The children recovered but the father grew worse and in June of 1914, he suddenly closed his eyes and sank into a lethargy, which the doctors said would prove fatal. But he lingered on and on, his heart action strong and respiration regular and natural. Though he failed to open his eyes or speak for many months, he took food regularly when it was given to him by another hand. The physicians said he did not wake while eating, but an instinct of the body calling for food and nourishment was obeyed.
Apparently Suffered No Pain.
Apparently the sleeper suffered no pain or anguish. He seldom changed his position. The first sleep lasted until 1921. On March 28 of that year Eashlinger began to show signs of awakening. Doctors from three states hurried to the city. Shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon Eashlinger's eyelids flickered and a slight frown wrinkled his face. Slowly the eyes opened and gave a puzzled look at the doctors and nurses. The patient made no effort to move or speak. After a few minutes he closed his eyes again, the frown left his forehead, and once more he was asleep.
There were no more wakeful moments until three months later. This second return of the sleeper came at 8 o'clock in the morning. Again an expression of pain crossed his face, but only for a few seconds. Again there was the amazed look in the eyes. This time the hopeful watchers were rewarded, for there was an attempt to speak. It was difficult, for his voice had been stilled so long. But faintly and distinctly came the words:
"The Lord help me."
Efforts to get the man to talk further were unsuccessful for a time, but at last there came a somewhat startling request. It was for a chew of tobacco. It was given Eashlinger and he chewed it with apparent relish.
Able to Recognize Baby.
A baby was held in front of him. The first look of intelligence of nearly seven years came as the man murmured in a low voice, but with much feeling: "Baby."
Early this spring Eashlinger began to decline and for a month he

MAN ACCUSED OF LEAVING SCENE OF ACCIDENT ACQUITTED
 Jury's Verdict for Emmett Baysinger, an Automobile Mechanic.
 Emmett Baysinger, an automobile mechanic, 3529 Pine street, was acquitted of a charge of feloniously leaving the scene of an accident, by a verdict read in Judge Hogan's court today. The verdict was reached last night by a jury.

Testimony offered by the State was that Baysinger's machine, Nov. 7 last, struck John Morard, 63, at Grand avenue and Forest Park boulevard, after which Baysinger drove on to Laclede avenue. There he parked his machine and walked back to the scene of the accident. He was pointed out as the man whose automobile had struck Morard and was arrested.

Baysinger testified he could not find a place to park his car until he reached Laclede avenue and that, as soon as he found a place to stop, he did so and returned to the scene. Morard previously had testified he was blind in his right eye. Baysinger's machine hit him from that side.

GARBAGE INCINERATING PLANT CONTRACT LET
 Will Be First of Farm to Be Erected in Various Sections of the City.

A contract for the erection of a garbage incinerating plant at the foot of Chouteau avenue, was let by the Board of Public Service today, to the Superior Garbage Co. of Dallas, Tex. The company's bid was $69,785. The plant will be the first of four such places to be erected in various sections of the city. It is proposed to erect a plant at Russell's Point, at King's highway and McKee avenue, and at the city workhouse at some time subsequent to completion of the Chouteau avenue plant. Residents of these districts have complained against the proposal to erect garbage plants there, because of odors it is generally believed will emanate from them. The city purpose to show with the Chouteau avenue plant, however, that a garbage incinerating plant can be operated without odors spreading from it and then, officials believe, strenuous opposition to the other proposed plants will subside.

The Chouteau avenue plant will have a capacity of about 50 tons of garbage a day. It is specified in the contract that the plant must be erected within 120 days. The plant will be the first step of the city to abolish its present method of disposing of garbage, by taking it down the river in barges, to be sold to hog raisers.

FRANCIS HOME EXEMPTED FROM TAXES LAST YEAR
 Same Action Again Sought Because of Its Occupancy by Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The fact that the David R. Francis home and grounds at the northwest corner of Maryland and Newstead avenues was exempted from taxation last year on the ground that its use by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was in the public welfare, was disclosed today by a visit of Clarence H. Howard, sponsor of the Junior Chamber, to the Assessor's office and to the Mayor with a request that the property again be exempted.

Assessor Buder has assessed the residence at $42,000 and the land at a rate which would make an approximate total of $106,000. The last assessment of the property on which taxes were paid was $93,380, making the tax $53,113. Buder said he would refer the matter to the Board of Equalization, which is now in session.

Francis about two years ago donated the use of his home and grounds to the Junior Chamber and Boy Scouts. He since has been occupying an apartment.

MERIWETHER DENIES HE IS A MANAGER FOR REED
 Attorney Says He Is Merely Supporter and Has No Official Connection With Campaign.

Editor Post-Dispatch: An article published in your issue of April 12 states that "the attacks of United States Senator Reed upon former President Wilson... were brought forward yesterday by Lee Meriwether, one of Reed's managers." This statement is wholly incorrect. I have not "brought forward" any "attack" of Senator Reed upon former President Wilson, although I did mention the fact that the Senator differed from President Wilson on one question, the League of Nations, and that he ventured to express his views of that question. If to differ from a man is to "attack" him, then Senator Reed "attacked" President Wilson; apart from such difference of opinion as to the merits of one or two public questions I never heard of Senator Reed expressing, or entertaining, for President Wilson any sentiment other than that of respect, and even of admiration.

But what I wish specially to correct is your statement that I am one of Senator Reed's "managers." I have no connection whatever with his campaign, or with any of his committees; I am simply one of that large number of Missourians who admire his unusual talents, who do not agree with him on all things, who think him mistaken in many things, but who believe him to be right on most of the big questions immediately before the country for solution—and who for that reason shall vote for his nomination and re-election to the Senate. As a Democrat and a Missourian I have a right to say publicly why I think it would be well to keep Reed in the Senate, but my exercise of that right does not warrant the statement that I am the Senator's "manager"; I have nothing to do with his campaign; what I say is merely my own individual act, and I will thank you to correct the erroneous statement referred to.

OLD ENGLISH COERCION LAW LIKELY TO BE AMENDED

Ancient Statute Recently Invoked by Woman Accused With Husband of Fraud Scheme.

LONDON, April 14.—The old English law known as the doctrine of coercion which declares that a wife cannot be guilty of a crime when it is committed in the presence of her husband, seems likely to be amended now that it has been brought to light in the case of Mrs. Owen Peel, who was acquitted of co-operating with her husband, Capt. Peel, in defrauding bookmakers by placing racing bets by means of forged telegrams.

The case has aroused widespread interest and many papers devote editorials to it.

The Times says: "This legal protection of the married woman, a remnant not of chivalry but of serfdom, has more than served its time now that women become justices of the peace, serve on juries and are elected members of Parliament."

The Daily Express learns that parliamentary opinion is definitely in favor of an amendment of the law placing men and women on terms of equality in regard to criminal responsibility and that proper legislation will be introduced at the first opportunity.

"Perfectly ridiculous and out of date," was Lady Astor's comment on the case. "If women demand sex equality in the political and professional world, they should also be prepared to accept the same treatment as men at law."

Convicts Say Poor Homes and Long Waits in Jails Are Greatest Crime Causes

Get Judges Who Won't Continue Cases, Keeping Youths With Hardened Criminals in County Prisons, They Urge.

By the Post-Dispatch.
JULIET, Ill., April 14.—Straight from the heart of the criminal world have come the first concrete suggestions, based on the knowledge and experience of men who know what it means to steal, to murder, to be captured and later face the world again from the gates of the prison, for a better law enforcement.

"Convicts know more about crime and its causes and the best way to prevent it than all of the lawyers in the world," was the unanimous testimony of seven inmates who told their stories to the Special Law Enforcement Committee of the American Bar Association. This committee has just concluded its investigation in Illinois behind the forbidden walls of the local State penitentiary. Youthful evil associates, improper home environment, and more specifically the lack of segregation in the jails of the country while awaiting trial were indicted by these seven men who also recalled the influence that evil women have in making criminals.

The first to tell his story was a one-term criminal, serving 10 years of hard labor for operating a confidence game. More than 6 feet tall, a college graduate, well proportioned and clear-eyed, No. 6988, indicated by his general appearance why he had been a university prize winner.

Poor Homes a Factor.
"Tell us what brings this wave of crime?" asked Judge Kavanaugh, chairman of the committee.

"Poor homes," snapped out the witness, his voice ringing with the modulation of the trained orator. "Did you not have a good home?" was asked.

"Not the kind that makes real men."

"What was wrong with your home?"

"I was unhappy, there was nothing there but drudgery and general unhappiness."

"Is that your explanation for your present state?"

"I am afraid that it is."

"A Man's Friends and Home." The second witness had served nearly 40 years for murder. Before he had settled himself in his chair, Judge Kavanaugh asked:

"What is the most potent factor in raising crime as you have found out in your years of association with men brought to this prison?"

"A young man's friends and his home," was the reply uttered in a low tone that indicated careful weighing of the words. "When a young fellow does not find pleasure and comfort at home, he hunts for it some other place, but he always finds the wrong kind. When he doesn't get along well with his fam-

INQUIRY MADE AS TO STATUS OF CITY BOND MOVEMENT

North St. Louis Business Men Address Resolution to President of Chamber of Commerce.

SPECIAL BODY HAS NOT MET IN MONTH

North End Organization Again Offers Services to General Council on Civic Needs.

An inquiry by resolution as to what has become of the recent movement to fill St. Louis' civic needs by a bond issue was made last night of F. W. A. Vesper, president of the Chamber of Commerce, by the North St. Louis Business Men's Association. More than a month has elapsed since the General Council on Civic Needs, an appointed body of 200 men and women, has met. The last meeting was adjourned subject to call by Vesper.

The resolution was as follows: "Knowing your great interest in civic needs work, we are addressing you as an organization, also interested in this highly useful program, asking for information as to the progress of the movement."

"This is not in criticism or in an effort to inject the North St. Louis Business Men's Association unnecessarily into the situation. It has been several weeks since the last meeting of the general committee and our interest prompted us to ask as to the progress being made and to again offer our services in any cooperative way possible to aid the work. The resolution was offered by A. S. Weyer."

"Time to Act or Shut Up."
Walter B. Weisenburger, who, as chairman of the membership conference of the Chamber of Commerce, organized the civic needs luncheon out of which the bond movement grew, spoke pungently of some of the handicaps of mistaken popular belief encountered. He said that the talking stage in the movement was passed and that it was time to "do something or shut up."

In part his speech follows: "You have heard the city's actual needs named over and over in the past. It is one of the civic needs to the conclusion that it isn't so much what we need as we are getting to get it. I should rather put up 15 items and get two of them than let it be said to the outside world that we sat by and did not try to get anything."

"St. Louis was a leader in the city plan movement and there are some eight or nine major street widening projects now under ordinance that would relieve this situation, but it requires more than ordinances to do the work. Within the last 10 days one of the most important street widening projects ever proposed in this city—the market street plan—was passed by the Board of Aldermen. While I do not want to give any undue credit to the ordinance, it is a fact that this ordinance was passed after some difficulty with the distinct understanding that if there was not a bond issue within a reasonable time providing finances for both this and other street widening ordinances, the entire program of street widening will be repealed. If it becomes necessary to repeal those street widening ordinances, St. Louis will have jumped back 25 years."

Street Railway Problem.
"One of our needs is a better rapid transit system. St. Louis cannot expand very much more, if any, under the present system. We have just about reached the zenith of our progress and should admit it and sit down and wait while things take care of themselves, unless we can apply the lessons of progress and modernization that other cities have. I do not like to take my hat off to any other city—and I don't. I think that whatever is the matter with St. Louis can be fixed and we have got to fix it. I say if Los Angeles, Detroit and San Francisco can pull their street railway situation out of the mud, so can we."

HOME BUILDING RECORD IS SET
By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 14.—A nation-wide record in home building was established in the last year by the Commerce Housing Corporation, the Commerce Housing Corporation, with a total of 178 houses erected in the Pittsburgh district. It was announced yesterday.

The houses erected, the report shows, included 141 bungalow contracts totaling $600,000, while 14 were constructed at cost for individuals and 23 were built for real estate interests that sold them at cost.

Senate Passes $37,250,000 Farm Bill.
WASHINGTON, April 14.—The Senate passed the farm bill, an agricultural appropriation, yesterday after it had reversed itself and rejected the free seeds item for another year. The bill carries approximately $37,250,000, or about $1,500,000 more than was passed by this House.

JURY MAKING PRESENTMENTS AGAINST REILY DISMISSED

Porto Rican Grand Jurors Appeal to Attorney-General for Ruling in Case.

SAN JUAN, P. R., April 14.—The grand jury which recently made a presentation against Gov. Reily and other Porto Rican officials was dismissed yesterday by Judge Foote of the San Juan District Court. The grand jury afterward met in quarters outside the courthouse and appealed to the Attorney-General for a legal ruling relative to its dismissal, expressing belief that it was not in accordance with the law.

The grand jury, it is added, had reported to the Judge that it had business still pending before it. When the grand jury handed in its presentment last week the Court refused to receive it, and when the jury insisted upon delivering the report Judge Foote again declined to accept it as a public document, but put it aside in a sealed envelope.

HOOPER CALLS ON URMAYER TO CORRECT STATEMENTS MADE
Secretary Declares Department Does Not Approve of "Open Price Associations."

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Secretary Hoover has requested Samuel Urmayer of New York, in a letter made public yesterday, to "correct the misimpression" created by his claiming that the Commerce Secretary was insisting on the legality of so-called open price associations.

Hoover's letter was in reply to one written by Urmayer regarding the conference of operatives of national and interstate trade associations that met here Wednesday at the Commerce Department.

"How hard is it to put over bond issues?" It is an unfortunate fact that in most people's minds the last bond election was had was a complete and total failure. The real truth of the matter is that five projects were put over and of the 15 items voted upon the most severely defeated was the municipal farm, and it registered 62 per cent of the vote when all that was needed was 56 2-3 per cent.

There were four other items on that required less than 1000 votes to have put them over. So, when you analyze the last bond issue campaign, it disproves the assertion that St. Louisans are just naturally backward, and they will not pass a bond issue.

Matter of Leadership.
"Others say we lack leaders. In view of our lack of such effort in the last 10 years, tell me how we can ever expect to develop any leadership for such work if we did not engage in it? That is one of the poorest excuses of all, because movements of sufficient importance develop their own leaders."

"I know we have some things that must be overcome, one of the most serious being that there seems to be too many roadside shrines. This little group and that little group, who-

DAUGHERTY TO PRESS LINCOLN MOTORS CLAIM

Attorney-General Says Matter Will Be Put Up to Federal Court Promptly.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 14.—The Government will "proceed in an orderly way to file and press the payment of" the claim of the War Department against the Lincoln Motors Co. of Detroit for approximately $2,118,000 on aviation contracts, Attorney-General Daugherty announced yesterday after a meeting with private creditors of the defendant, concern whose claims also amount to approximately $3,000,000.

The entire matter of the claims, the Attorney-General said, will promptly reach the Federal court, where "the whole matter of the liability of the parties will be determined."

About 900 Creditors.
There are 900-odd creditors, Harold H. Emmons of Detroit said at the meeting, and to pay their claims there is available $5,000,000 out of the $9,000,000 paid by Henry Ford at a receiver's sale for the property. The other $4,000,000, he added, represented preferred creditors, including labor, mortgages and city, State and county taxes.

The Attorney-General, in a statement after the meeting, said: "The department thought it fair to grant this hearing under the special circumstances of the case. No time has been lost and no money has been lost to the Government in affording an opportunity for this hearing. The hearing was concluded after a two hours session and a decision was promptly reached that the Government proceed in an orderly way to file and press the payment of the claim. It will no doubt promptly reach the Federal court where the whole matter of the liability of the parties will be determined."

Charges that the Government's cases for recovery on aircraft contracts from the Lincoln Motors Co. and the Wright Martin Aircraft Corporation were withdrawn from United States attorneys "because of the influence exerted by persons outside the Department of Justice," were made yesterday by H. L. Scaife, a former investigator in the department, who recently resigned because, he said, proper action was being taken to follow up the evidence uncovered.

Plans Reparations Meeting.
The French Government has approached the other allied Governments on the advisability of holding a council of the Entente Finance Ministers at Genoa to decide what action is necessary in view of Germany's reparations reply. If the meeting is held here or within striking distance of Genoa, the French point out, it would not interfere with the deliberations of the economic conference.

The proposed meeting has the double purpose of explaining to Germany the necessity of complying with the allied demands and of keeping the question of reparations from getting into the Genoa conference. As it stands, it is likely the reparations question will come before Genoa if, indeed, the conference does not blow up over the London experts' report.

New British Figure.
The correspondent learns that the British have decided on a new figure for the reparations total which is much lower than the present figure. The English are not going to present this figure directly, but are calculating national indebtedness will fix Germany's in accordance with it.

For the purposes of the conference, the British have a new formula for avoiding the reparations issue. They will divide the nations into those with big debts and those without. As Germany and France each have big debts, they intend to consider them in the same category in financial and economic discussions.

WAR REPARATIONS APPEAR AT GENOA UNDER AN ALIAS

German Expert on Finance Committee Introduces Question Under "Balance of Payments" Designation.

FRENCH-RUSSIAN ROW STILL IN FOREGROUND

Soviet Firm Against Judicial Conditions, While Barthou Is Solidly for Report as Written.

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
(Copyright, 1922, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., Inc., New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

GENOA, April 14.—The question of German reparations came before the Finance Committee of the Genoa conference late yesterday afternoon under another name. The subject was introduced and left for discussion by Director Havenstein of the German Reichsbank, who is an expert on the subject. The new camouflage designation of reparations is "balance of payments."

The matter was introduced in the form of a short amendment to the experts' report, Havenstein saying in explanation, "You tell us how to balance our budget, but how can we, if the balance of payments is not in order? As we have a different balance of payments every 15 days we can't balance the budget."

The memorial was permitted to stand and was for discussion before the subcommittee of which Dr. Gustav Cassel, the Swedish expert, is the principal member.

New Complications Threatened.
President Rakovsky of the Ukraine was permitted to get before the same committee a memorial on the cost of disarmament in relation to the budget, on the ground that it was permissible to discuss any questions which affect the budget.

A new complication to the conference is threatened in the demand that the little enterprise be made for frontier guarantees. The war signed agreements much like the famous article X. The demand will be presented by Bratiano of Rumania and Skirmut of Poland, in Commission No. 1, after it gets over its present difficulty. Benes, Premier of Czechoslovakia, will back them.

These statements will not have an opportunity immediately to present their demand, as the French-Russian row is going to hold the attention of the conference for the present. It was postponed yesterday when Chicherin's request for two more days' study of the report of the London experts was granted at the suggestion of Barthou.

Barthou Makes Clear His Stand.
It is understood that the French will agree to the financial and economic provisions, even to the guarantees stipulated, but is firm against the judicial conditions.

Barthou, on the other hand, means to stand on the report as written, and is advancing cheerfully to the fray which now is set for Saturday. He took occasion today to tell the British and American delegates that he was not willing to agree to the financial and economic provisions, even to the guarantees stipulated, but is firm against the judicial conditions.

Sovereign Rights Plea Rejected.
The commission fails to agree with Wirth that its conditions encroach upon the sovereignty of the German people and hopes that the intractable attitude suggested by the German note was the result of insufficient mediation of the consequences involved.

In conclusion the commission warns Germany that if the attitude taken by Wirth is persisted in no further discussion will be useful, for the commission will report the Reich as a defaulter to the allies, who would then be empowered to proceed to apply the sanctions allowed under the treaty of Versailles.

The commission, however, waits for the Reich to withdraw its "challenge" of the authority of the reparations commission and meanwhile is willing to help in every way. The conditions of March 21, however, stand. In view of Premier Poincaré's known belief that Germany default on the reparations clause authorizes France to take independent action, this opens the way to possible occupancy of German industrial districts if by May 31 the Wirth Government has not conceded the right of the reparations commission to say how and when Germany shall pay.

HINT AT MARCH INTO GERMANY IN ANSWER TO WIRTH

Striking Attitude Taken by Allies in Regard to Demands of Reparations Commission.

CHANCELLOR'S NOTE TAKEN AS CHALLENGE

Previous Conditions Maintained in Their Entirety, but Willing to Consider Budgetary Plan.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
PARIS, April 14.—In reply to Chancellor Wirth's note indicating Germany's inability to comply with the terms of the Reparations Commission's demands of March 21, a striking attitude has been taken by the allies.

Wirth stated the Reich's inability to impose new taxation or accept any sort of control of the German fiscal or administrative arrangements, on the ground that such control was derogatory to German sovereignty. The Reparations Commission has now taken up Wirth dramatically on the rights possessed by the Reparation Commission under the Versailles treaty.

German Challenge Seen.
In Wirth's refusal to come into line with regard to the condition governing the moratorium offered the Reich in the note of March 21, the commission sees a deliberate German challenge, and hints that not only the principals, but also the machinery of the Versailles treaty—that is to say, possibility of a march forward into Germany, may have to be envisaged by the German people. It is known that in connection with the German Government's latest refusal, the British element on the Reparations Commission, which has formerly been regarded as tolerant toward Germany, has been more adamant than the French.

In last night's bulletin the commission states that the whole expenditure to be defrayed by the German Government in German money must be met by real resources of the German people without recourse to further monetary inflation. The commission is disposed to agree that a considerable portion of this expenditure should be met by the German people without recourse to further monetary inflation. The commission is disposed to agree that a considerable portion of this expenditure should be met by the German people without recourse to further monetary inflation.

The commission therefore considers that a drastic increase in taxation is essential. The conditions of the previous note are maintained in their entirety, and any plan for dealing with a budgetary deficit which the German Government may care to bring forward will be considered. The commission believes that any chance of a foreign loan before Germany makes a serious effort to place her house in order is "chimerical."

SPECIAL CONSTABLES ATTACKED IN BELFAST

Several Men Killed in Street Shootings—Stormy Easter-tide Is Predicted.

By the Associated Press.
BELFAST, April 14.—A stormy Easter-tide in Belfast is predicted by those who have watched the sequence of disorders here, as the result of a concerted attack on a patrol of special constables last night. The members of the patrol were making their rounds after the curfew hour when a burst of heavy firing from windows and roofs wounded four of the officers. The scene of the attack is in the Sinn Fein section of the city.

Further shootings, although not believed to have been in the nature of reprisals, occurred today at the termination of the curfew period.

The first victim was a Protestant baker, who was assassinated while returning from work; the second, a corporation cleaner, Catholic, who was shot and is reported dying in the hospital, and the third, a baker, Protestant, who died in the street after being shot.

LADY DOYLE SHARES HUSBAND'S NEW FAITH

Spiritualism, as They Regard It, Gives Happiness Here and Beyond, She Says.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Lady Doyle, the helpmeet in spiritual conviction as in all else of her husband, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, put into the words of the wife and mother yesterday the meaning of the great light of spiritualism, which both believe must be disseminated till in the end it sweeps the world entire.

Handsome and vigorous, her dark hair lightly touched with gray, her deep gray eyes glowing with her thought as she sat in her drawing room at the Hotel Ambassador, the wife of the English author was as vividly inspired as a zealot of old.

What she has found in this, to her, comparatively new thought—she has only been a spiritualist since 1914—has been first the elimination of cruelty. Not hell, but harmony. Not the age of omnipotence, but the love of a friendly God.

"My children," she said, with a softened note in her clear voice, "do not fear death any more than passing through a door into the room beyond. They know that on the other side of that door they will find their friends and love and the bright, happy life they have known here. How do I know what is awaiting them? Through those dear ones who have passed on and through the mediums who have told me what their home is like."

"No Lonely Souls There."

There will be no lonely souls on the other side. Those who have died loved and never found it here will find it there, for in that blessed life they tell us people walk in twos in a human love.

"There will be no children," Lady Doyle continued, though she admitted children were the expression of a perfect thought, but added, "I do believe, however, that the maternal yearning will be in some way worked out; that there will be others to mother. I have consoled so many with this knowledge that after death they will find the perfect marriage like mine."

Lady Doyle's entrance into the faith was dramatic. It came with the great war, which she testified had set spiritualism on the crest of the wave, the living here seeking some communication from those lost in battle.

"When I was married," she said, "my husband was already far advanced in his investigation of spiritualism. But I could not accept it. I called it uncanny. My husband is the last man to force his opinions on anyone, so the matter dropped. It was after my brother had been taken that, with a dear friend who had lost three brothers, I sat in seclusion with my husband in our nursery. My friend was meditative, and it was through her that I received a message from my brother, so clear, so unmistakable, that I could no longer doubt. Afterward Sir Arthur heard from mediums in all parts of the world, who had received that same message for me. The evidence was overpowering."

Saw Her Mother's Face.

Later the "dear friend" of the first seance died and Lady Doyle, with a rapid look, recounted the details of a vision that followed, at which she saw the face of her own mother, her mother-in-law and her friends. At this wonderful seance, she said, where there was none of the mechanical usually associated with materialism, the various sitters were enabled to see the faces of their dead friends hovering near. She explained that the wonderful power of the medium, in combination with the ether, was able to bring this vision. Lady Doyle says she has likewise seen the son who was so largely responsible for Sir Arthur's public work for spiritualism, but "vague."

The Doyles attend no spiritualist church in England because Sir Arthur hopes that all churches may so modify their tenets as to include this religion. She said the Swedes were closely akin to it, the Theosophists as well, though the latter more bothered about what would happen to them in a very remote future. Some religions have proved stumbling blocks, but they find much comfort in the Society of Christian Science, whose 71 members all clergyman of various denominations study spiritualism that in their sermons they may preach its doctrines interpreted in a spiritual way.

"Thought Fear, Only Fear."

"I could not teach my children a hell where they would be punished eternally," went on Lady Doyle, "any more than I could teach them to be afraid of God. I don't know how it is in America, but in England not ten in every hundred go to the regular churches, but the spiritualist churches are jammed. That is because the priests and the people are taught fear, only fear. Some religionists all spiritualism the teaching of devil. But I think if devil came bringing such happiness, can make people understand God like that, we have come to a great age."

Lady Doyle was smiling when she replied to the suggestion that the happiness of spiritualism should make people grow young.

"Look at my husband," she said. "He is the youngest man I know." America is no novelty to Lady Doyle. She was here in 1914. She admits it was a sacrifice to leave home and all that it implies at this time.

Lady Doyle works constantly with her husband and goes everywhere with him.

Pre-wedding parties for the April brides will begin next week, and four of them have been definitely arranged.

Complimenting Miss Alvera Jo Platt, Miss Platt will be married to Richard C. Platt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Platt, Tuesday, April 25. Next Wednesday Miss Frances Woods, 7069 Kingsbury boulevard, will give a shower and bridge party for Miss Platt. Dr. and Mrs. Edward E. Haverstick of 4919 Fairview park boulevard, uncle and aunt of the bride, will give an evening bridge in honor of the prospective bride and her fiancé, Saturday, April 22, and the following Monday, Mrs. Haverstick will entertain Miss Platt at a luncheon bridge.

The rehearsal of the wedding will be held Sunday, April 23, and Mr. and Mrs. Platt will be hosts at a buffet supper, at which the bridal party will be the guests.

The bridal party includes Miss Cora E. Alt, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, and Miss Vivian D. Walley of Boston, a cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid. Mr. Alt will have his brother, Walter Alt, as best man, and the groomsmen will be Frederick Dickie. The ceremony will be performed at 7:15 o'clock, in the presence of relatives and close friends, and will be followed by a reception.

Mrs. John Kerr Tiffany of Florence, Italy, and her daughter, Miss Edith Tiffany, arrived in St. Louis several days ago, to visit relatives and friends, and will remain until early spring. A series of parties are being given in their honor, dinners, luncheons, and teas, including a dinner party given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Murphy of 4229 McPherson avenue. Mrs. Tiffany is a sister-in-law of the late Dexter Tiffany. She and her daughter are staying at the Buckingham Hotel during their visit in St. Louis.

Mrs. Charles Flavel Forbes of New York, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Vernon Clark, 5254 Westminster place, will be the honoree at a number of parties which have been planned for her in addition to those already announced. On Monday Mrs. J. W. Ferguson will give a luncheon bridge complimentary to Mrs. Forbes, and Mrs. John D. Ferguson will be hostess at a luncheon for her Wednesday. Mrs. Laura Taylor, who makes her home at the Jefferson hotel, will give a luncheon and theater party Saturday afternoon, April 22, complimenting Mrs. Forbes.

Another of the spring brides will be the guest of honor at a number of pre-nuptial parties. Friends of Miss Frances Parish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton Parish, whose marriage to Robert Whittemore Knapp will take place May 4, have planned several affairs for her. On April 21 Mrs. Meredith Jones will be hostess at a tea, and on April 28 Miss Parish will be honored at a kitchen shower and bridge party to be given by Miss Beatrice Douglas, 5079 Waterman avenue. Mrs. Charles Lucas will give an afternoon bridge for her May 1, and Mrs. Robert Braisher will entertain Miss Parish at a dinner party, the date of which has not been set.

Mrs. Raymond M. Spivy of 5381 Pershing avenue will be hostess at an informal tea Tuesday afternoon, April 18, in honor of Miss Edith Nason of Salem, Mass., who is visiting Mrs. Spivy's sister, Miss Emily Eaton, 89 Vandeventer place. Miss Nason and Mrs. Spivy were classmates at Vassar College.

Mrs. Chase Ullman of the Branscomb Hotel has departed for Houston, Tex., to visit Mrs. Clifford Hawkins for a fortnight.

Miss Jane Healy of 4147 West Pine boulevard will be hostess at a buffet supper Sunday evening. The guests will be Misses Ruth Dutton, Ruth Warren, Naomi Brown, Annette O'Reilly, Henriette de Penaloza, Marjorie Rathel, Lois Dodge, she organized the cement concern. In addition to his wife and daughter, he is survived by three brothers, Samuel, Hanson and James, and one sister, Mrs. John L. Messmore.

HARDING EXPECTED TO ACT IN PORTO RICAN CONTROVERSY

Arrangements for Extended Conference on Insular Matters Made by Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Action by President Harding in the Porto Rican situation growing out of the controversy between Gov. E. Mont Reilly and leaders of the majority political party in the island, is expected today following a visit of Secretary Weeks to the White House. The Secretary of War said that he had arranged for an extended conference later on insular matters, particularly with respect to the Philippines and Porto Rico. Justice E. Finley Johnston of the Philippine Supreme Court, who is now in Washington, is expected to participate in the conference on matters relating to the Manila administration. There were no indications as to the nature of the action the President might take in the Porto Rican controversy.

DAVID ANDERSON MARKS
FUNERAL TOMORROW AFTERNOON

The funeral of David Anderson Marks, 72 years old, president of the Continental Portland Cement Co. and vice president of the Continental Brick Co., who died Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Louis F. Kempf, in Chicago, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Marks was a grandson of Gen. William Marks, an officer in the Revolutionary War, and later an associate of Daniel Webster. Marks came to St. Louis in 1869 as an employee of a grocery house. He married Miss Sarah Stoble and he and his father-in-law organized the St. Louis Cereal Mills. Thirteen years ago

Free Organ Recital Sunday.

A mingling of Easter spirit and patriotism appears in the program arranged by Charles Galloway for his free public organ recital in Graham Memorial Chapel, Washington University campus, Sunday afternoon, 3 to 4 o'clock. The first two works partake of the spirit of the former, being "Christus Resurrexit," by Ravello, and "Easter Hymn," with variations, by Buxtehude. The final number is a concert variation on "Star-Spangled Banner," by Dudley Buck.

'ARMAMENT REDUCTION ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY'

Italian Ambassador Ricci, Here,
Discusses Washington and Genoa Conferences.

Reduction of land armaments are absolutely necessary to the pacification of Europe, Senator Vittorio Rolando Ricci, Italian Ambassador to the United States, told a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Hotel Statler today in discussing results of the disarmament conference at Washington, in which he participated as one of the Italian delegation.

The Ambassador, who recently was awarded the Great Cross of the Order of St. Maurice, the highest decoration bestowed by the King of Italy, for his work at the conference, said, through an interpreter, that he was "confident the Washington disarmament conference, besides the immediate benefit of limiting naval armaments and excluding the barbaric use of the submarine against mercantile craft, will represent the beginning of agreement that will bring this necessary reduction of armaments on land."

Discusses Genoa Situation.

Italy, like Great Britain, had no difficulty in admitting the delegates of the Russian Government to the economic conference at Genoa, he said, as the continuance of the bolshevik regime for 4½ years was evidence, in part, that it was a stable and accepted government.

"Recognition of a government depends entirely on its degree of stability," he said. "No one has the right to dictate to a people how they may be governed. If the Russian people choose to be ruled by Lenin, it is not for outsiders to ask them to accept a Czar, a constitutional monarch, or a republican president. The only question is to make sure that the actual government is that which the Russian people wish to have, or are, at least, ready to accept, which means about the same thing."

While unwilling to make any predictions about the conference, the Ambassador said that good was certain, in the end, to result from such conferences, as nations grew to understand each other through such meetings.

"America is a great and beautiful country, rich in innumerable resources, but it needs to augment the number of its inhabitants if these resources are to be developed to the fullest," he said, in discussing immigration. "This is not only for her own advantage, but for the good of the entire world."

Reception Tonight.

Ambassador Ricci, whose party included Commander Spella, a former Italian army officer, and Dr. G. Buggelli, press attaché at the Italian Embassy, was taken on an automobile trip through the downtown district, to Forest Park and to Washington University today by Robert de Violini, Italian Consul here.

A reception will be held tonight for the Ambassador by Italian citizens and persons of Italian descent at Elks Hall, Grand avenue, and Lindell boulevard, before he departs for the West to continue his visits to all cities having large Italian populations.

The Italian Government had seen with pleasure the elevation to the papacy of a scholarly and a peaceful man, who had already given proof that he was able to associate religious fervor with the love of country, said the Ambassador, in commenting on the election of Pope Pius XI.

LEAP TO DEATH THIRD TRAGEDY IN FAMILY

Widow of Dr. Glickstein Feared Woman Slayer Would Be Freed With Stone Acquittal as Precedent.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 14.—Another tragedy, growing out of the murder of Dr. Abraham Glickstein by Mrs. Lillian Raizen in Brooklyn last December, was recorded today, when his widow, Mrs. Anna Glickstein, ended her life by leaping from the third-story window of her mother's home in Brooklyn. The doctor's mother fell dead at his funeral.

Mrs. Glickstein had been laboring under a heavy mental strain since her husband had been shot, members of the family indicated, and it was said she had been brooding over the recent acquittal of Olivia M. P. Stone for the murder of Ellis Guy Kinkaid, former Cincinnati lawyer. Mrs. Raizen, who has confessed the murder of Dr. Glickstein, is a prisoner in the same jail where Miss Stone was incarcerated, awaiting trial.

Mrs. Lena Tubansky, mother of Mrs. Glickstein, said at the time of Miss Stone's trial her daughter exclaimed: "If the Stone woman goes free, the woman who murdered my husband will go free. Anyway, as long as the doctor is dead, I might as well be dead myself."

Daughter Slept With Her.
Frances Glickstein, 15-year-old daughter of the dead woman, who came from Lakewood, N. J., to pass the holiday season, slept with her last night, the mother retiring about midnight.

Frances said her mother seemed to be a little more cheerful than usual. When Frances awoke early this morning her mother was missing. Soon afterward, a policeman, who had found the body on the sidewalk, awakened the family. Mrs. Glickstein's head had struck an iron post at the entrance to the house.

Mother Died at Sight.
Dr. Glickstein, a practitioner of some prominence in Brooklyn, was slain by a woman who had been admitted with other patients to his office. The actual shooting was not witnessed by any of the other patients in the physician's waiting room. Dr. Glickstein's mother fell dead when she viewed his body. Three days after the shooting, Mrs. Lillian Raizen surrendered, confessing she had shot Dr. Glickstein. She declared her motive was vengeance for an operation the physician had performed on her, which made her incapable of becoming a mother. She admitted she had for several years been "under the influence" of the doctor, and had submitted to the alleged operation at his request. Mrs. Raizen is awaiting trial.

CANADIAN END OF STILLMAN DIVORCE SUIT IS COMPLETED

Case Shifts Back to United States. Where Conclusion Is Expected in Few Weeks.

By the Associated Press.
MONTREAL, April 14.—The Canadian phase of the suit of James A. Stillman, New York banker, to divorce Mrs. Anne U. Stillman and disown little Guy Stillman, ended yesterday in the trial before Commissioner Godin.

Only one witness was called by the plaintiff in completing the Canadian evidence. The witness, Tom Gay, Constable of Three Rivers, Quebec, was understood to have testified that Lizzie Wilson of Three Rivers signed in his presence a statement that she never had misadvised herself with Fred Beauvais, Indian guide, named as correspondent by Stillman.

Wednesday, Miss Wilson swore that a Canadian attorney representing the banker had told her that if she had not seen Mrs. Stillman acting improperly with Beauvais, then it was Lizzie herself who had misbehaved with the guide.

The Stillman case now shifts back to the United States, where in a few weeks the attorneys expect to conclude the trial.

Alleged Irish Betrayer Shot.
NEW YORK, April 14.—Vengeance for his alleged betrayal of the Irish cause was ascribed by police as a possible motive for the shooting of Patrick Connors in a revolver fight with six other men in Central Park West last night. Connors was wounded five times and is not expected to live. Connors, a former member of the Irish volunteer army, was sent to jail by the British Government for his activities. While in prison he is alleged to have given information which reacted to the detriment of the movement.

Readers Are Interested in Sensational News.

The front page of the newspaper is devoted to stories of crime because the reading public demands news that is startling. The advertisements of the Prufrock-Litton Furniture Company, Fourth and St. Charles, have been read with interest this week, for they tell of price reductions on upholstered furniture that are truly startling. Their sensational clearance sale of sample living-room suites at wholesale prices, closes Saturday.

NO BURCH JURY THIS WEEK

Retort of Woman on Ventrone Cause Defendant to Laugh.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 14.—Arthur C. Burch, on trial charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, laughed heartily when Mrs.

Frederick S. Lyon, on the venire from which it was hoped a jury would be obtained, frankly declared in court she would "never vote to hang a young man." She was not accepted—even temporarily—but three other women were temporarily passed. Nine men were in the box, but one was under examination. Both prosecution and defense have given up hope of completing the jury this week.

ATTORNEYS CONTINUE EFFORTS
TOWARD SEMENOFF'S RELEASE

Cossack Leader Was Committed to Jail in New York When Firm Cancels Bail Bond.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Attorneys retained by Gen. Gregorie Semenoff, former leader of anti-Bolshevik forces in Eastern Siberia, resumed their efforts today to secure the release of their client from the Ludlow Street jail, to which he was committed last night on default of bail. It was declared that in a few hours a new bail bond to replace the one canceled yesterday by the Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland would be arranged and that the Cossack chief would again be at liberty.

A hearing in the bankruptcy proceedings against Semenoff by the receiver of the Youroevia Home & Foreign Trading Co., which caused his arrest in this city, was called for this afternoon.

JAPANESE PENETRATION OF SIBERIA REPORTED CONTINUING

Latest Step Recorded Is Formation of Big Timber Company—French and Germans Active, Too.

VLADIVOSTOK, March 28.—The Japanese are continuing persistently their plan of "peaceful penetration" into Siberia. They are creating companies and trusts for the exploitation of the wealth of the country. The last to be announced in the local papers is the organization of a big timber company with a capital of from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 yen. A French Consul is soon to arrive. It is reported, with a project for a forestry concession. The Germans are very active. A society of Russian-German trade unification has been nearly established in Vladivostok.

The British are not showing much activity and so far there is no American enterprise in evidence.

Getting Rid of a Stubborn Cough is Child's Play Now

Make the Medicine Yourself at Home. It's Cheap—But You Can't Beat It.

If you want to take care of that bad, hacking cough and do it in a few hours, better get one ounce of Parment (double strength) and mix a half pint at home. You can do this in two minutes by adding a little sugar and enough water to fill a half-pint bottle.

You'll travel the world over before you get a medicine that will act so sure and quickly on the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. It halts the inflammation, the tickling sensation along with the first spoonful, the heavy breathing goes and clean membrane, free from irritation and mucus, follows.

For Catarrhal conditions, such as mucus droppings, clogged nostrils and watery eyes, it won't disappoint—ask for Parment (double strength). Speak plainly so that the druggist will know exactly what you want.

DEMOCRATS DISPLACED IN CIVIL SERVICE JOBS

Several Post Office Department Employees Here Reduced After 29 to 36 Years' Service.

Announcement yesterday in Washington that Fred W. Reuter, a Post-office Inspector assigned to East St. Louis in the Chicago district, had been appointed Postoffice Inspector in Charge in St. Louis led to the disclosure at the Federal building that the process of displacing Democrats in Federal positions under the Civil Service had begun in St. Louis.

Reuter, a Republican, succeeds K. P. Aldrich, a Democrat. Other changes which have become known are:

Frank McFarland, superintendent of the Railway Mail Service, a Democrat, was reduced to Assistant Superintendent, and will be succeeded by Stephen A. Cleser, superintendent of the Railway Mail Service in St. Paul, a Republican. McFarland's salary is reduced by the change from $4200 a year to $3200.

Harry Stone, assistant superintendent, a Republican, was reduced to Chief Clerk, with a reduction in salary from $2200 to $2000.

Ernest N. Renne, chief clerk in the Railway Mail Service, a Democrat, was reduced to a clerk, with a reduction in salary from $2000 to $2300.

McFarland has been in the service 25 years, Stone 26 years and Renne 29 years, while Cleser has been in the service 23 years.

Postmaster Alt, when asked if there had been changes in the heads of department in the St. Louis post-office, said there had been none, and that he could not say whether any of the present heads of departments, inherited by him from the Colan Selp administration, would be reduced.

$3964 FUNERAL BILL ALLOWED

Item of $3000 for Casket Largest in Eselbruegge Burial Expense.

A bill of $3964.75 on account of the funeral of Frederick Eselbruegge was allowed against his estate in the Probate Court yesterday. The largest item was for a casket costing $3000. Automobile service was $384 and flowers cost $150. The bill was presented by the Henry Leidner Undertaking Co. and was granted without objection.

Eselbruegge, who was 76 years old, died at St. Petersburg, Fla., March 16, where he had been for two months, and his body was brought here for burial. His home was at 2749 North Eleventh street. He left his estate, consisting of several parcels of realty and personal property, to his wife, Charlotte. Prior to prohibition he was head of a mercantile company at 6128 North Broadway which dealt in liquors, wines, beverages and foodstuffs. The company has recently dealt in non-intoxicants and foodstuffs. George W. Strodtman has charge of his estate as executor.

News of the Business World

By Wire to the Post-Dispatch

DETROIT, Mich.—Retail business is well into its upward swing here. Intermittent cold spells have made buying somewhat irregular, but reports to the Retail Merchants' Bureau show steady increases in the volume of weekly turnover. The factor behind the retail trade advance is the increase in industrial payrolls, which have grown each week since Jan. 1. Wholesale prices of merchandise are holding steady and advances are predicted in a few lines. Downtown retail stores have added scores of salespeople in the last fortnight. Merchants say only a small part of the increase in business is due directly to the Easter trade. The situation in the Lake Superior iron district has shown a material forward progress since the first of this month. Several mines have begun shipping ore by rail and others have orders in sight which promise early resumption of mining work. The Great Northern Railroad will spend $3,500,000 at Superior City for construction of a new steel ore dock. Industrial employment took another abrupt jump this week, the total reaching 210,000 workers or an increase of 6,000 over last week's total.

ATLANTA, Ga.—Ideally, weather during Easter week, coupled with bargain sales in all the larger department stores, has resulted in a volume of retail trade which exceeds that for a year and which compares favorably with the Christmas rush in 1927. Stores have been crowded, with shoppers since Monday, and although business has been far above expectations, it is believed Saturday will be the banner day of the week. Wholesalers and jobbers, however, are complaining of the disinclination of merchants to stock far ahead. The tendency to buy for immediate needs only remains in evidence. Collections are good, however, frozen credits are thawing out and the banking position in the Sixth Federal Reserve District is as sound as could be hoped for.

In the country districts farmers are preparing the ground for their spring crops, which will be more greatly diversified this year than ever. The larger part of the produce will be disposed of through the co-operative marketing bureau.

Building in Atlanta since the first of the year already entails a proposed expenditure of $3,475,000, which is a record for this city for all time.

GENERAL TOPICS.
CHICAGO.—The business of mail order houses here continues to improve, although orders are generally smaller in quantity. The fact that they are increasing in number is taken as a good, however, frozen credits are thawing out and the banking position in the Sixth Federal Reserve District is as sound as could be hoped for.

PHILADELPHIA.—Income tax payments for the first quarter of this year fell $17,370,778 below those for the first quarter of 1927, a decrease of 29.17 per cent.

NEW ORLEANS.—Adjustment of differences between the city authorities and the local street railway, has prepared the way for taking the traction lines out of the hands of a receiver and for making liquid a large sum of local money tied up in the enterprise. The settlement also will enable the traction company to spend several million dollars in improvements.

COFFEE.
NEW ORLEANS.—Importers are spending $17,000,000 to improve and cheaper methods of handling coffee at this port. These improvements are expected to result in greatly increased shipments here.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—W. P. Snyder & Co. have advanced pig iron prices as follows: Basic, $18.00 up 75 cents; Bessemer, $20.00 up 50 cents; foundry, $20.00 up 50 cents, prices being valley basis. Malleable is up 50 cents at $19.50, valley.

CHICAGO.—Back logs are such that steel orders are being taken for 60-day delivery and the leading independent here is sold out to the end of the second quarter and is not anxious to book for the third quarter. The New York Central is reported in the market here for 3200 tons of rails. One $600-ton rail order was booked here this week.

FRUIT.
NEW ORLEANS.—Demand for berries from this district is exceeding supply and record prices are being received by growers. Shipments this season are expected to total 1500 cars, 200 more than last season.

RADIO EQUIPMENT.
PITTSBURGH, Pa.—The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. is adding to its working forces daily. The big works at East Pittsburgh are operating at fully 70 per cent of capacity.

LIVESTOCK.
LANSING, Mich.—Livestock is in good condition in Michigan and a considerable quantity is moving to market earlier than usual.

FACTORY EQUIPMENT.
PHILADELPHIA.—A local concern making belting and other power appliances reported today that business in March was the best in its history.

GASOLINE.
ST. PAUL.—Standard gasoline prices are reflecting the increase of automobile travel in this district and the price has been advanced 2 cents a gallon to 24.7 cents.

CANNED GOODS.
CHICAGO.—April, May and June are the heaviest consuming months for canned goods and stocks in this area are likely to be exhausted before the new packs come on the market.

If the new Easter hat gets there in time, that's a lucky strike that counts.

When we discovered the toasting process for cigarette tobacco it was a lucky strike for us.

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTE goes through just one more process, we believe, than any other brand. It's toasted.

Of course this extra process costs us more. But the toasting—the final touch—seals in the Burley flavor, and costs you no more. And smokers appreciate this extra point of quality. Millions of them, apparently, have found no taste as delightful as this rare flavor of toasted Burley tobacco.

Try Lucky Strike today. It's toasted.

ROBBER MAKES CITIZEN SEARCH HIS VICTIMS

Man Then Allowed to Go Without Emptying Own Pockets in Lieu of Services.

A lone highwayman held up Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dennert, 133 East Grand avenue; Eugene Peterson, 2540 North Eleventh street, and Rolla Hade, 4545 North Broadway, as they were walking along East Grand avenue near the Burlington tracks, at 8:45 last night.

"Here, you; you step out and search them," the robber said to Peterson, after the party had been halted. Peterson complied and, at the robber's direction, searched Dennert first. From Dennert $120.25 and a check for $10 were taken. Peterson was ordered to put the money in the robber's pocket. Peterson then took $4 from Hade and gave it to the robber.

"You needn't search yourself nor the lady," the highman said. "Just walk east now and don't look around."

Dennert told police that the money taken from him, with the exception of $1.15, belonged to the A. Moll Grocery Co., by which he is employed.

Drug Store Held Up by Two Men; $45 Taken From Cash Register. Two armed men, one of whom was masked, entered the drug store of Edward L. Kelly, 6121 Plymouth avenue, at 10:35 p. m. and took $45 from the cash register. As they departed, one of the men took 30 cents from Kelly's pockets. They ran to a waiting automobile and drove away.

Three men who entered the confectionery store of A. J. Hold, 1750 North Twelfth street, ordered cigars, and as Hold turned to get them the men told him to hold up his hands. They took $6 from the cash register and helped themselves to the cigars.

St. Louis-Mexico Rail Plan.

By the Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Tex., April 14.—Rate concessions making rail exporting to Mexico and passenger travel into the country more alluring are offered by officers of the National Railways of Mexico, conferring here yesterday and today with representatives of American lines making border connections. One of the plans is for the establishing of direct traffic from St. Louis and territory to Mexican points as well as Texas and surrounding states. Round trip fares into Mexico will be 60 per cent cheaper on an average for summer travel than by buying transportation at border points, it is declared.

BIRD SHOT STEALING BABY; CHILD NOT HURT SERIOUSLY

Geneva Newspaper Reports Unusual Kidnaping by Condor With Wing Spread of 17 Feet.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, April 14.—Seizure of a Swiss peasant's baby by a huge bird identified as a condor is chronicled by the Oberlander Volks Zeitung. The mother left the child sitting on a blanket on the grass. Her husband, seeing the condor swoop down and lift the infant into the air, shot the bird, which fell so slowly that the youngster was only slightly injured. The condor had a wing spread of 17 feet 5 inches and a beak 14 1/4 inches in length. That it is a true condor, which is a native of the South American Andes, is vouched for, according to the newspaper, by Prof. Ochsenschlaeger, University of Berns ornithologist.

Franklin Market

614 Franklin Av.

THE LARGEST EXCLUSIVE SANITARY MEAT MARKET IN THE CITY

We wish to state when we opened the large, exclusive, sanitary meat market at 614 Franklin avenue, we were under the impression that we had plenty of room, but owing to the quality of our goods and our prices, our market is entirely too small for us. We have been unable to accommodate the large crowds that we are having, so we have come to the conclusion to open other markets, after the same model as the Franklin Market, in different parts of the city. Market No. 2 will be opened Saturday, April 15, at 1972 E. Grand Av. All in that vicinity are invited to visit this market. You will find one of the most up-to-date, sanitary, white enameled meat markets in the city. The prices will surprise you and the quality of meat cannot be beat.—JOE SMART, Pres.

"Listen In" on the AIR'S WONDERS—Install a FREE "Jewel" in Your Home
Radio is truly "The Newest Marvel of This Marvelous Age." You can sit at home and listen to informative, instructive and entertaining programs broadcast through the air. You can receive bulletins, vocal and instrumental concerts, weather forecasts, market reports, time signals, etc.

Description of the Free "Jewel" Radiophone Receiving Set

No taps, continuous wave length variation. Equipped with tuning coil of latest and most scientific design. Good substantial cabinet, bakelite panel, bevel and graduated dial, sensitive and permanent crystal adjustment. No batteries required and no maintenance cost. Everything complete.

The head set consists of two receiving phones, 2400 ohm resistance, navy type.

Quite as important as the tuning coil are the phones. Those with the "Jewel" are exceptionally sensitive, being the same make as those in use in the Post-Dispatch station K 8 D for receiving.

The "Jewel" is rated as a 50-mile instrument, and under favorable atmospheric conditions will receive radio signals from that distance. It is only recommended, however, at this time of the year, for St. Louis and suburbs. Tests have shown that the "Jewel" picks up Post-Dispatch radio programs clearly and distinctly.

Complete instructions for installation and operation with each set. Briefly, it is the finest and most sensitive and compact Radiophone of its type.

The outfit, as we will deliver it to you, will include tuning coil in handsome, polished cabinet, head set, consisting of two receiving phones and instructions. It will not include wire or insulation for antenna of "ground"—which may be obtained at nominal cost.

Anti-Saloon Recommendation.
WASHINGTON, April 14.—Recommendation that the Anti-Saloon League of America should continue to file a report of money received specifically for or directly expended in connection with the election of members of Congress is made in a report of a special committee of the league made public last night by the national organization.

A warrant was issued today against the Cabaret Laundry Co. for employing an unlicensed chauffeur. The action grew out of the death Dec. 22 of Miss Florence Boas, a nurse, who was struck the previous day by a truck of the laundry company driven by Winston Warren, a 16-year-old negro, who was said to have been working as a chauffeur after school hours for $1 a week.

WARRANT AGAINST MAN FOR HIRING UNLICENSED CHAUFFEUR

The attention of the Prosecuting Attorney was directed to the case by Robert Burkham, an attorney, who represents relatives of Miss Boas in a suit against the company. The negro could not have been licensed because of the legal requirement that a person must be 18 years old to obtain a chauffeur's license. The penalty for employing an unlicensed chauffeur is a fine of $5 to $500, or imprisonment for not to exceed two years. This is the first warrant of the kind issued in St. Louis.

TAKE GUDE'S
PEPTO-MANGAN

It Is the Safe and Reliable
Tonic Used by Physicians for 30 Years.

There are "new styles" even in medicines. A new "fad" comes, is popular for a while, and then fades out of public view. A remedy that has stood the test for thirty years must have remarkable merit and cannot be called a "fad." Such is Gude's Pepto-Mangan, originated by Dr. A. Gude over a quarter century ago, which has helped many thousands of people back to good health by improving the blood. Pepto-Mangan is an iron tonic. It contains iron in a special form easily absorbed by the system. It puts color into the lips and cheeks and improves the entire body by improving and enriching the blood. It is sold by druggists in both liquid and tablet form. If you want to be well and strong and look fine and healthy, take Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

BILL FOR SHEEP BOUGHT IN
1780 JUST PRESENTED TO STATE

Old Note Against Pennsylvania for 100 Pounds Sterling Is Offered for Collection.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 14.—The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania today was presented with a bill for $100 sterling for two head of sheep bought for the American Revolutionary army.

The bill was sent to Attorney-General Alter by Oliver Payle of Pennsylvania with a request that he be informed whether it was collectible. The copy received here shows that it was a note executed July 1, 1780, by David Davis, Commissary of Purchases. It was dated at Reading, Pa., and drawn in favor of Samuel Boone.

DOCTORS BELIEVE GIRL'S NECK
WAS BROKEN WHEN SWING FELL

Accident Paralyzing Body From Shoulders Down Occurred

Near Independence, Mo., April 14.—Marylinn Jacobs, 14 years old, fell when a swing rope broke late yesterday. Her neck was broken by the fall, doctors believe.

The little girl lay last night at the home of her uncle, near Independence, Mo. She was paralyzed from the shoulders down, but was able to move her arms a little and was conscious. The little girl was one of the athletes at her school, and won the dash in the public school track meet here last year. X-ray pictures will be taken to determine whether an operation can save her life.

THE ONE UNWANTED

The Story of a Misunderstood Girl
BY RUBY AYRES.

CHAPTER I. A Girl Instead of a Boy.

It was common knowledge in our family that when I was born my mother cried from sheer disappointment, and my father swore at me and doctor alike, as if he held them responsible for the fact that I was a girl, when all along he had wanted a boy.

They had put up with the first two, comforting themselves with the old saying that the third time is never like the rest, and that number three was sure to be a son and heir, so I suppose it must have been a bit of a shock when I calmly disproved the rule by being a girl.

I wasn't even a pretty girl, like my two elder sisters. I was the plain one of the family as well as the unwanted one, and although I don't think my father and mother were intentionally unkind, they never lost sight of these two humiliating facts.

I am told that there was no fuss or ceremony made of my christening as there had been with each of my sisters. A parson was hurriedly fetched to the house, as it seemed almost certain that I should not live and I was unromantically christened Elizabeth Sarah, after my father's only unmarried, and poorest, sister, who was pressed to stand sponsor for me.

She died when I was 10 years old, leaving me all she had in the world to leave—an old-fashioned brooch with entwined hair in it, and a Georgian silver milk jug, but I can remember her quite distinctly still, as a thin-faced, shy old maid with a flat chest and kindly eyes.

"Sally will grow to be just like her Aunt Elizabeth," so I heard my mother say one day, and I stole away into the night nursery and climbed up on a chair to look at myself in the dressing table glass.

I had loved Aunt Elizabeth, but I did not want to grow up to look like her, and I studied my not very hopeful reflection with anxious eyes. Small, pale and thin! As unlike my two pretty sisters as it was possible for me to be, with thick, fair hair without a suspicion of curl in it, and serious eyes, which kind people might have called hazel, but which my mother said were "nondescript."

But I was not a serious person at all! I was the bad girl of the family, as well as the unwanted one, and as my father said when he was particularly angry with me: "She ought to have been a boy, in more senses than one."

I wished I had. I was sure that I had had a far better time of it than girls, except girls like my sisters, that is, who were graceful and pretty and who paid for dressing.

My mother was very proud of them. She took them about with her a great deal and spent a lot of money on their clothes.

"They do me credit," so she was always saying to me, "whereas you, Sally, —" and she turned away in disgust from my dirty pinafore and face, that was stained with blackberry juice at the time.

I was always in disgrace. Somebody was always finding fault with me, and, as is often the case in such circumstances, I grew defiant.

"I don't care!" was my invariable answer when I was punished.

"Are you sorry?" my mother would ask me hopelessly, when I had got into a fresh pickle, and I always said, "No, not a bit."

As a consequence I was never allowed down in the drawing room to tea, I was never asked to parties or taken about.

Once when a new visitor included me in an invitation, my mother gave a little shiver as she refused.

"Oh, no, thank you! Not Sally! You would send her such a hand-rail!"

I was the terror of the nursery. Both my sisters were afraid of me, and the climax came when one day I ran away to play with some egyptian children who had camped in a field near our house, and caught scarlet fever from one of them.

I had it mildly myself, and soon recovered, but Nell, the prettier of my two sisters, had it terribly badly and nearly died, and I was never forgiven.

It meant boarding-school for me. And if that doesn't improve her, nothing ever will!" my mother said, hopelessly.

So arrangements were made and I was packed off.

"I hope you're sorry and will try to be a better girl!" I was told. "You are being sent to school as a punishment, you know."

"I don't care!" I said, and I didn't. I stayed two terms at that school. But the head mistress wrote to my mother and tactfully asked if I might be removed, as I was altogether beyond her.

My father and mother both came to fetch me home, and I was called down into the drawing-room to receive admonition.

"Aren't you sorry and ashamed?" my mother asked.

"No, not a bit!" I said, and I didn't.

"You won't learn. Goodness only knows what is to become of you!" Sally, don't you love me at all that you're such a bad girl? Your sisters are both so different, and will soon be such nice companions for you."

"I'm glad I'm not like them," I said. "Nell's only a stuck-up cat, and Winnie's a baby."

My two aunts grew crimson with anger, and I was hurriedly hustled out of the room before I had time to say anything worse.

So I went down to Devonshire, I remember arriving there on my seventeenth birthday, which was in January, and thinking that I had come to the ends of the earth.

We had to drive seven miles from the nearest station in an open trap, and there had been a snowstorm, and I was almost frozen with cold before we reached our destination, or I might have noticed how beautiful the country and the surrounding hills looked in their white mantle, and have realized how glorious it would be later on in the spring and summer.

"Is it much farther?" I kept asking the driver hopelessly.

He was a young country lad, with a brogue I could hardly understand, and a bright red nose that clashed horribly with the purple muffer he wore, and each time I asked my hopeless question he answered with the same monotonous monosyllable, "No!"

"No!" at last I gave up asking him, and drew the rug up to my chin in a vain effort to keep warm.

I believe I had really dozed off into a sort of fitful sleep owing to the cold, when suddenly there was a violent jerk, and I felt myself being shot from my seat through the air, finally landing in a snowbank unharmed, but very indignant.

To Be Continued in the Post-Dispatch.

I remember feeling envious when I heard that. Why had they not provided me with a rich godmother? I demanded, instead of poor little Aunt Elizabeth?

"Because you don't deserve anything good," was all the reply I received.

I suppose it should have been an ordeal for me to be called into the room to be talked about in front of four grownup people, but I did not mind in the least. I sat down in the first empty chair I could find, but was promptly told to stand up; so I stood up, on one foot, fidgeting and fro till out of sheer irritation Aunt Allison said:

"For heaven's sake, let the child sit down. She gets on my nerves!"

"Sit down, Sally," said my mother. "I would rather stand," I answered obstinately. They would not let me sit when I wanted to, so I was not going to do so now.

They talked and talked, and recounted all my misdeeds, and at last it was decided to send me away from home, right into the heart of the country, somewhere down in Devonshire, where I should be miles from a town, living on a farm with an elderly couple, who had once been cook and coachman in Aunt Isabel's family.

"We can but try and see how it works for a year or so," they agreed. "What about school?" I asked. "Don't I go to school any more?"

"It's waste of time to send you to school," my mother said helplessly. "You won't learn. Goodness only knows what is to become of you!" Sally, don't you love me at all that you're such a bad girl? Your sisters are both so different, and will soon be such nice companions for you."

"I'm glad I'm not like them," I said. "Nell's only a stuck-up cat, and Winnie's a baby."

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 93—Four Times Three Equals 11.

LAY three coins on the table. "One, two, three," Lay them down again one by one, and count "Four, five, six." Again pick them up, saying "Seven, eight, nine." But as you pick up the ninth coin lay it down again immediately on the same count, then put down the other two, counting "Ten, eleven."

If the above routine is done rather rapidly it will have a very puzzling effect. If anyone wants to try it, hand him the coins. He will probably start with the coins in his hand, and will find the trick impossible.

Shadows.

WHEN I was just a little tike I used to be afraid when I thought of shadows—worse of all! for now I'm getting gray, I find the same thing still is so with many fears today. The bogies of my nursery have vanished with the years, yet flocks of fears that come to me when I'd dare to look around, why, nobody was there. And sometimes on my window sill I'd hear a soft "tuck, tap" and I'd be crouching breathless still, when came that ghastly sight, and I'd see a large

KEATS' DREAM WOMAN

To the Editor of the Women's Page:—It is interesting to note the opinions, pro and con, of people in regard to the modern girl and the girl of yesterday. And as woman is no less interesting yesterday than the girl of today, Keats, the poet of beauty and loveliness, who wrote: "A thing of beauty is a joy forever: its loveliness increases; it will never pass into nothingness; it will keep a bower quite for us, and a sleep full of sweet dreams, and health, and quiet breathing"—the author of these lines has left to posterity an interesting description of the WOMAN who would and who would not succeed in luring him by her charm or beauty. And it is of the girl of the early nineteenth century that Keats wrote, for he died (at the youthful age of 25) 181 years ago—Feb. 23, 1821. He wrote:

WOMAN: when I behold thee flippant, vain, childish, proud and full of fancies; Without the modest softening that enhances The downcast eye, repentant of the pain; That its mild light creates to heal, again: Even then, elate, my spirit leaps, and prances.

Even then my soul with exultation dances For that to love, so long, I've dormant lain: But when I see thee meek, and kind, and tender, Heavens! how desperately do I adore Thy winning graces; to be thy defender.

I holdy burn—to be a Calidore— A very Red Cross Knight—a stout Leader: Might I be lov'd by thee like these of yore.

Light feet, dark violet eyes, and parted hair; Soft dimpled hands, white neck, and creamy breast. Are things on which the dazed senses rest. Till the fond, fixed eyes forget they stare.

From such fine pictures, heavens! I cannot dare To turn my admiration, though unpossessed. They be of what is worthy—though not drest. In lovely modesty, and virtues rare. Yet these I leave as thoughtless as a lark.

Theseures I straight forget—e'en ere I dine. Or twice my palate moisten; but when I mark Such charms with mild intelligence shine.

My ear is open like a greedy shark. To catch the tunings of a voice divine. Ah! who can forget so fair a being? Who can forget her half retiring sweets?

God! she is like a milk-white lamb that bleats For man's protection. Surely the who joys to see us with His gifts agreeing. Will never give Him pinions who entreats. Such innocence to ruin—who vilely cheats.

A dove-like bosom. In truth there is no freeing One's thoughts from such a beauty: when I hear A lay that once I saw her hand awake. Her form seems floating palpable, and near: Had I ever seen her from an arbour take A dewy flower, oft would that hand appear. And o'er my eyes the trembling moisture shake.

Of course, the modern girl is more independent and less dove-like than Keats' dream girl of yesterday. Nor did he find such a girl, for the girl to whom he gave his heart, that was so soon to be his, no more, but not before he discovered "the human heart's capable of so much misery" he first disliked, "called her ignorant, monstrous, in her behavior." But within one short week his ignorant creature had won his heart. His first impressions of her he wrote:

"She is about my height, with a fine style of countenance of the lengthened sort. She wants to make her hair look well, her nostrils are very fine, though a little painful; her mouth is good, and bad; her profile is better than I could have wished. I do not find her face which is without showing any bones; her shape is very graceful, and so are her movements; her arms are good, her hands bad; her feet tolerable."

There are thousands—millions of shapes and dread upon the nursery wall; the hair would rise upon my head at shadows—worse of all! for now I'm getting gray, I find the same thing still is so with many fears today. The bogies of my nursery have vanished with the years, yet flocks of fears that come to me when I'd dare to look around, why, nobody was there. And sometimes on my window sill I'd hear a soft "tuck, tap" and I'd be crouching breathless still, when came that ghastly sight, and I'd see a large Keatses (without having his gift the Muses bestowed upon him) in the world; men who are looking for their dream girl (vice versa), then marry the exact opposite in every way (Keats never married, although he became engaged to the girl who was "monstrous in her behavior").

I know a young man who declared: "I will never marry until I meet a girl who has the qualifications of my mother." He hasn't met her. His mother is a combination of the girl of yesterday and today, who has refused to permit great sorrow, tribulations and blighted faith to crush the spirit of youth in spite of everything; for she has an undaunted faith in God (Love) and has found tongues in trees, sermons in stones, and good in everything."

The girl of yesterday has her faults, no less than the girl of today. But let us look upon them as imperfect virtues and not seek the impossible creature of our dreams; and remember: WOMAN is the most wonderful and beautiful of all God's creation and—nature is contrary.

VONNIE RECTOR GRIFFITH.

REPLY TO STRINDBERG

To the Editor of the Women's Page:—Referring to the tale of woe signed by the undersigned, Strindberg, I guess the best way to treat such an epistle would be to ignore it altogether; nevertheless, I hope the above-mentioned gentleman will condescend to listen to another view of the situation as he explains it.

I should diagnose Strindberg's ailment as an exaggerated ego, combined with an acute case of inexperience with the right kind of girls. Any worth-while young man of today will tell you that he doesn't care a rap for the girl who pursues him (and Mr. Strindberg says they all do it). This gentleman should realize that it may have been woman's sole ambition to capture a man 50 years ago (when Strindberg was a boy), but times have changed in this day of horseless carriages and wireless telephones. Any woman, be she beautiful or homely, intelligent or dull, can secure employment with a very good wage, with which she may buy the best of clothes, etc.

Present-day girls do not care to tie themselves down to fellows who make about the same salary as they do—say to the average young man making $10 a week, which would mean that they must do without finer things to do without. This condition surely does not appeal to me, and yet these same enterprising young men with the large (?) salaries complement themselves that any girl would be tickled stiff to have him. I firmly believe that Mr. Strindberg comes under this class, for if he were wealthy he surely would not begrudge the "designing female" a livelihood.

I suppose that Mr. Strindberg has never been in love. Does he not love his mother? Surely he would find it a pleasure to supply her with the good things of life should she be in need. "The same state of affairs prevails in the mind of the young man when he is in the company of a sweet, pretty little girl. She doesn't have to angle or hint because the young man would feel only too proud to be her lord and master and her sole support. Will not the world consider him prosperous when he is so financially situated as to be able to take unto himself a wife and support her in high style? Again I say unto you it is man's profound egotism that prompts him in his every move."

Mr. Strindberg also mentions that he is perfectly all right for other young men to succumb to the wiles and flatteries of the other sex so long as he himself is not captured. Did he ever occur to this gentleman that there may be several reasons why no girl has ever pursued him or at least continued to pursue him? Maybe he is so ugly, sour and cross that no one cares to be in his company.

As for spending money lavishly on girls, would mention that I am not interested in men who cannot afford to spend. The man who has money in his pocket is either lacking in intelligence or ambition, and these people are very dull company. Maybe I have some of the egotism to which I object in Strindberg, for I would rather be by myself than in the company of The Average Young Man (which I take to mean a man with an eighth-grade education and a middle-class job).

Fashion News Notes

PARIS—Jewelry has yielded to the season's delight in eccentricity. The newest ornament is a disk or plaque of gold, having a thin black ribbon. Across the disk flashes a streak of lightning in diamonds. This trinket is named "Le Coup de Foudre."

NEW YORK—Brides with bobbed hair cannot very well use the diadem headpiece which ever since Princess Mary's wedding has been the fashion. Bobbed hair and diadems are incongruous. Therefore, a bridal veil headpiece of about the year 1880 has been restored for the bobbed bride. In 1880 a bride usually gathered her hair into ringlets over the ears. The 1922 short-haired bride may therefore safely borrow the narrow orange blossom wreath which circled the head and which with the full veil gathered lightly to the edge of the circlet, keeps the hair sedately in place.

LONDON.—Two new ideas are offered for evening frocks. One is a wondrous material called drap d'or, which is as pliable and gleaming as satin. A gown of this gold cloth usually has a sumptuous girdle of gold and silver passementerie. The other idea is that of using for the decoration of evening gowns, flounces, panels and sleeves of waxed lace in purple and petunia shades.

From careful inspection I have found that this "Parsons Plan" is gradually gaining the approval of the entire citizenship of that little city; that the parents, the churchmen, the club members and all others concerned are disposed to give the scheme a fair trial. Carried to its final limits, this idea of the school as a central director of the whole life of the child will extend into 10 possible departments instead of the one department of classroom instruction with which it started a few generations ago.

A department of athletics and gymnasium practice with training as an element.

A department of social training, intended to foster acquaintance of each generation with the two generations.

A department of assembly meetings, with features relating to behavior and management.

A department of manual and vocational training, intended to give pupil an outline of experience in the great trunkline industries.

A department of school public relations.

EDUCATION IN A NEW GUISE

By W. A. McKeever.

After having traveled from coast to coast and from the Gulf to the Arctic, I find that the Middle West is making unique experiments in education. For example, Parsons, Kan., is trying out what may prove to be the next step in the direction of a higher American citizenship for the future.

Parsons is the pioneer in the widely discussed "Port Scott Plan" of placing Boy Scouts under the executive management of the public school, and its new ideal is now a venture in the direction of taking under the general control of the school all the normal activities of the children of legal school age.

This plan would not usurp the functions of the home and the parents, or of the church and its leaders, but it would outline theoretically the duties of these, and would thus make them easier of performance.

FABLES for the FAIR

THE HIGH COST OF BEAUTY

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

MORAL—BUT ISN'T IT WORTH IT?

EVERY once in a while some joy-killer. Does the Jeremiah act over the amount of money girls spend in beauty parlors—On rouge and lip-sticks and rice powder and eyelash-blackeners. Some statistics found. Calculates how many million dollars the country pays annually for cosmetics.

And usually the sad tale winds up with a few lightning calculations. As to how many hods of coal or pairs of blankets.

Or flannel petticoats. The condemned total of make-up money would purchase.

Of course, nobody at all, not even grandma, wears flannel petticoats these days.

And even if purchased, in place of synthetic blushes. They would register as much of a total loss.

As if they had been shipped in a missionary box to a South Sea Island.

The latest flash from the complexion emporia. Is hot on the wires from Washington.

Where it has just been discovered—Business of bated breath—That Uncle Sam's stenographers waste $6,000,000 of their dear Uncle's time, every single year.

In applying to their cheeks the blush-rose of commerce. And to their lips the drug-store crimson.

Each chemical beauty, it is estimated, Devotes one hour daily, out of the office's sacred schedule.

To doling-up—Ghastly total, 15,000,000 hours of working time GONE!

I wonder if it isn't almost half as many hours as Congress wastes?

In view of the example in time-killing set the girls by the lofty TALKERS.

In both Houses—To say nothing of the presence in Washington of such a male character and connoisseur in female loveliness.

As Representative Manuel Herrick of Oklahoma.

The beauty-contest man—To find favor in whose sight almost any Government stenographer might be forgiven.

For spending even TWO hours of office time every day.

On her make-up—Considering these two factors in the local situation.

There may be an EXPLANATION, if not an excuse.

For the shameless behavior of the beauties on Uncle Sam's payroll.

Nevertheless, we may as well admit—That beauty comes high, these days.

For better, for worse, the American girl has decided

That a pale cheek and a shiny nose are not to be endured. She knows that while some are born with complexions, many achieve them—

At the cost of a little box of something, a stick of something else, And a powder-puff.

Plus the time that is necessary to assemble a face—

Sometimes, alas! her kind employer's time, for which he is paying her Good Money—

He admits it himself! But consider what he gets for his money.

What all the rest of us get! Beauty may be vain and deceitful—usually is.

But it's certainly easy to look at. "Full many a flower was born to blush unseen!"

Little Maisie wasn't. Her neat but not gaudy bluish is perfectly visible to the naked eye.

Yet Maisie is an artist! The occasional failure in facial art, downtown.

Is noticeable only in contrast to the AVERAGE success.

Who doesn't serve herself up overdone, or UNDERDONE.

Who knows that she can't cultivate the roses of a milkmaid on Wall Street.

And that she must "gather her roses WHERE she may"—

Even over the cosmetics counter! Yes, the high cost of beauty is NOT getting any lower—

But isn't it worth it?

The Housewife's Scrapbook

If there are grease spots on the rugs, lay a piece of blotting paper over the spot and set a flatiron, just hot enough not to scorch, on it.

Change the paper as often as it becomes greasy. Then apply whitening, leave it on a day or two, then brush off.

You can remove paint stains, no matter how old they are, by using equal parts of ammonia and turpentine.

When washing the baseboard in a room, it is a good idea to also clean the floor for a few inches from the edge. This will avoid streaks around bottom of baseboard when you scrub the floor.

Rub the brass bed with a soft cloth slightly moistened with sweet oil, then polish with a soft, dry dusting cloth and rub with a chamomile. If done occasionally this will keep the bed in excellent condition.

The Weekly Health Talk

By DR. MAX C. STARKLOFF, Health Commissioner of St. Louis.

The Health Department regards the alleys as the plague spots of our city. The truth of the assertion of the naturalist that "Man is the only animal who deliberately destroys himself by habits entirely under his control," is well exemplified by the baneful use to which many of our citizens put the city alleys.

In the economic arrangement of a city the alleys are laid out and dedicated primarily for a mode of communication between houses in their respective city blocks; to facilitate traffic by giving access to the front and rear of dwellings and business houses; to be places in which our city sewers can be located and most economically constructed; and in addition the alley is the space calculated to give additional air and sunlight, nature's greatest disinfectants, the proper supply of which is a sure factor in conducting to the health of the people in a city.

But the untidy and shiftless citizen, after our alleys have been properly cleaned, begins anew his work of dumping anything and everything from his premises that he wants to get rid of—ashes, sweepings from the home and store, offal, rubbish, garbage, even old bedding and old clothes. These materials are scattered over the alley, crushed by passing wagons and in the summer months the heat, acting on the crushed mass, breeds flies, disease and pestilence; and when the alley has a badly worn and defective surface this fetid material becomes a most dangerous nuisance.

If there is this danger originating from the paved alleys, what must be the condition of the unpaved alleys? Of course they are worse, very much worse. The objectionable substances above enumerated are dumped on the unpaved alley with much less restraint and the bulk of this filth is ground into the dirt where it remains to breed disease.

Educate your neighbors by keeping your alley clean. Show them that they are the obstacles to the good sanitary condition of our city and that they fall in their civic duty by assuming that no responsibility rests upon them as citizens to help enforce reasonable laws of sanitation and cleanliness. And when they scatter filth on our public alleys let them know that they are helping to poison the air for themselves as well as for their neighbor to breathe; and all because the practice of such slothful and careless habits binds them to the importance of cleanliness in protecting their own health and the general public good. Many a pestilence and epidemic have sprung from these plague spots on our alleys, all due to the lazy, indolent habits of some of our people.

See that the alley in the rear of your premises is kept clean and report your neighbor who fails to do his duty.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Bully the English Sparrow Is Put Out

By Thornton W. Burgess

The world long since decided fully, It neither likes nor wants a bully.

—Old Mother Nature.

BULLY the English Sparrow and Mrs. Bully had been living over by Farmer Brown's house. They had been driven out of the Old Orchard the year before. You know none of the other little people who live in the Old Orchard like Bully and Mrs. Bully. Farmer Brown's Boy had driven them out the year before, and they had never tried to go back.

But Bully is sharp-eyed. There isn't a great deal going on near him that he doesn't find out about. He didn't discover those new houses in the Old Orchard at once, but after a few days he noticed that Winsome and Mrs. Bluebird were gathering dry grass, and he knew that this meant that they were building a nest. He watched them fly over into the Old Orchard and made up his mind that they were building a nest there. Of course, he wanted to know where that nest was, so he flew over to the Old Orchard.

At once he discovered those new houses. His eyes sparkled. Right away he flew back to tell Mrs. Bully. "There are the finest houses you've ever seen, my dear, over in the Old Orchard," he declared. "They are brand-new, and we ought to have one of them."

Mrs. Bully looked at the nest behind the blind and then over to the Old Orchard. That nest behind a blind wasn't to be compared with a nest in a new house. "I'll go over with you and look them over," she declared.

Now the new house was one that Farmer Brown's Boy had put up especially for Skimmer the Swallow, who had not yet arrived. The very day that Bully and Mrs. Bully finished their last Farmer Brown's Boy

So Bully and Mrs. Bully hurried over to the Old Orchard and at once began to examine those new houses. Mrs. Bully found them even better than she had expected. "We'll move into this one at once," said she, and without wasting any time began to carry straw and dead grass into that house. She even flew over to her nest behind the blind and tore that apart to get material to take into that new house.

Of course, the other birds in the Old Orchard discovered right away what was going on and there was an indignation meeting. Bully and Mrs. Bully were not wanted over there, and their neighbors told them so. But this didn't make the least bit of difference to Bully and Mrs. Bully. They went right on with their work just the same. You know Bully dearly loves to fight and he was quite ready and willing that his neighbors should try to make trouble for him.

But the other birds had learned by experience that it was useless to fight with Bully and so they contented themselves with calling Mr. and Mrs. Bully bad names and telling them just what they thought of them. Bully and Mrs. Bully kept right on with their work and presently they had a nest in that new house.

Then Farmer Brown's Boy opened the bottom of that house and pulled out the nest of Bully and Mrs. Bully while they snickered and scolded and made a terrible fuss. Of course, their neighbors hurried to see what was going on, and great was the rejoicing.

Twice more Bully and Mrs. Bully started a nest in one of those houses and each time the nest was pulled out by Farmer Brown's Boy. At last they gave up and went back behind the blind on Farmer Brown's house.

"Thank goodness," cried Jenny Wren.

BRILLED ORANGES

SELECT large naval oranges for this purpose. Wipe and cut a thick slice from both the stem and blossom ends. Cut them in halves crosswise. Butter a wire broiler and arrange the oranges in the broiler, place a generous dot of butter on each half and broil under the gas flame until delicately browned; turn the broiler and place a dot of butter on each half and continue broiling until lightly browned. Remove from broiler, dispose on star-shaped pieces of toast, sprinkle lightly with salt and generously with sugar and garnish each with a maraschino cherry. Use as directed. To prepare the star-shaped sippets of bread: Cut white bread in thin slices and with a large star-shaped cookie cutter stamp out as many stars as needed. Toast lightly on one side, brush edges over with slightly beaten white of egg and sprinkle with finely chopped mint or parsley. Place the half of a broiled orange on each star, sprinkle with finely chopped mint and set a maraschino cherry in the center.

went over to the Old Orchard to see what houses had been taken. When he discovered Bully and Mrs. Bully a frown darkened his freckled face. "Hello!" he exclaimed. "This won't do. This won't do at all. You have no business over in the Old Orchard. That house wasn't intended for you. None of these houses are for you. I hate to do it, but I'll have to put you out."

Then Farmer Brown's Boy opened the bottom of that house and pulled out the nest of Bully and Mrs. Bully while they snickered and scolded and made a terrible fuss. Of course, their neighbors hurried to see what was going on, and great was the rejoicing.

Twice more Bully and Mrs. Bully started a nest in one of those houses and each time the nest was pulled out by Farmer Brown's Boy. At last they gave up and went back behind the blind on Farmer Brown's house.

"Thank goodness," cried Jenny Wren.

WHAT THE CASE CALLED FOR.

GABE THOMPSON was a person of unrelieved color, the color being black. Always, until he reached middle age, he had enjoyed perfect health. Suddenly he was stricken down with what seemingly was a grievous affliction. His complexion turned the color of wet wood ashes and he moaned with pain. His wife, in alarm, summoned a friend from a neighboring cabin and the friend decided, after one look at the sufferer, that the case was of sufficient seriousness to justify calling in a physician.

"Gabe," said the neighbor, "you 'pears lak to me that you is powerful poorly. S'posin' I hitches up an' goes to town fur the doctor?"

"All right," said Gabe, "but let de doctor w'ch you gits be a hoss doctor."

"Whu' fur you wants a hoss doctor?" asked the other, in astonishment. "You ain't no hoss. Chances is you ain't got no hoss disease."

"Nummine," replied Gabe, between gasps of agony, "you jest do lak I tells. Ef I knowed whut ailid me 'twould be diff'ent, but I ain't knowin'."

"Whut diff'ence does dat make?"

"I'll tell you," said Gabe. "Ef a regulation doctor comes to see you he kin talk wid you. He kin ax you whar de pain is an' whut you been eatin' an' drinkin' an' you kin tell him. But a hoss doctor he can't talk wid his patients kaze de patients can't talk back. He's jest natchelly 'blegged to know whut ails 'em."

"Nigger, you go git me de bes' hoss doctor you kin find!"

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague

THE SONG SPARROW.
Half an ounce of feathers,
Half an ounce of bird,
A fluffy mite of brown and white
And just a touch of gray,
In all sorts of weathers
Fasting 'round the word
At dusk and dawn that winter's gone
And spring is on the way.

Wee prophetic wizard,
Buffeting the blast,
The while he shakes the lacy flakes
Off tny whirling wings,
Well he knows the blizzard
Soon must blow its last;
And in the ice of yonder tree
He sings and sings and sings!

Ere the sun has risen,
Or its earliest ray
Beams on high across the sky,
He pipes his pure delight,
Nothing can trap him
That ecstatic lay
That bids all men be glad again—
For everything's all right!

April showers scolding,
On a tooting limb,
From his throat pours note on note
Ringing all day long;
Always there is morning
In the heart of him
And for me there'll always be
A sermon in his song
